$3.9 Million Toll Plaza Gets Nod

A new $3,900,000 toll plaza which would provide 12 toll lanes in each direction, was given preliminary approval today by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board.

Directors approved a split toll plaza which would place the administration building beneath the north and southbound lanes. Northbound traffic would use the present 12 lanes, remodeled so that all collection booths would be on the driver's side. Southbound motorists would pay in 12 new booths to be constructed west of the administration building.

The plan was selected from four presented yesterday to the building and operating committee. Other plans would have moved the toll plaza farther south and eliminated either the administration building or the roundhouse restaurant.

Under the approved plan, both buildings would be retained but the garage and powerhouse buildings would be moved. They would be placed at a lower level on the east side of the toll plaza.

Provision is made for directing the 12 toll lanes in either direction into four lanes on the bridge itself during rush hours.

The directors took first steps in providing for four-lane traffic in one direction by authorizing a test of traffic control devices across the bridge, similar to those now in use at the toll plaza approach.

Director Daniel del Carlo, chairman of the building and operating committee, was authorized to go east to study types of dividers in use on other bridges.

The directors called this a temporary solution to the rush-hour bottleneck until they can construct traffic control arches which would direct the flow by lights. Installation of the arches is not expected until after the toll plaza is expanded and the bottleneck on the San Francisco approach eliminated.

Directors were told that bids have been advertised for the $2,400,000 widening of the Marin end of the bridge, to be

LINCOLN AVENUE RESTORED TO USE

Norris Rawles, San Rafael public works director, watches rolling of surface as temporary restoration of Lincoln Avenue tunnel cave-in is completed by Brown-Ely crews under contract with Northwestern Pacific Railroad. The job was completed this morning and turned over to the city at noon. This afternoon, it was again possible—for the first time since the cave-in on July 20—for cars to enter San Rafael from Highway 101 via Lincoln Avenue. (Independent-Journal photo)

Nikita Claims West Leading World To War Over Berlin

Says He's Ready For Talks With Kennedy

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today the West had led the world to the brink of war over Berlin but that he was ready for talks with President John F. Kennedy if the U.S. president is ready for "business-like negotiations."

Khrushchev defended Soviet resumption of nuclear tests, saying they were forced by Western war preparations. He rejected as a "propaganda trick to deceive public opinion" the Anglo-American plea for a three-power ban on nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

The Soviet premier, speaking at a "friendship rally" attended by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, said the time was ripe for the diplomatic recognition of two German states and added their admission to the United Nations would be a "great service for peace."

WOULD ACCEPT

He said the Soviet Union would accept Western demands for an international disarmament control system "without the right of veto" if the West accepts his long-standing proposals for "complete and general disarmament."

Khrushchev did not say when, where or under what conditions East-West negotiations might take place. Nehru conveyed to him earlier an appeal from the Belgrade Conference of non-aligned nations for an early Khrushchev-Kennedy meeting to avert nuclear war.

'MUCH TALK'

"It is true that there is much talk in the West now to the effect that negotiations are necessary and even vital," Khrushchev said. "It was in this spirit that U.S. President John Kennedy spoke at the press conference of Aug. 30.

"If this reflects the real intentions of the Western powers, if they are ready for business-like negotiations, the Soviet government welcomes this.

"We stand for serious, business-like negotiations which would result in the conclusion of a German peace treaty with the participation of all states of the anti-Hitler coalition.

'NOT SUCCESS'

"But, it is impossible to put off a peaceful settlement to infinity. And if anyone expects to use the talk about negotiations in order to . . . mislead public opinion, I should like to say quite definitely once more —this will not succeed."

The German problem, he said, "cannot be solved by threats, military measures or preparations for war."

U.S. Brands Proposal Russ Propaganda Play

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House today dismissed as a play for publicity Nikita Khrushchev's offers to confer with President Kennedy on Berlin and other world crises.

At the same time, the United States, Britain and France warned Russia "in the most solemn terms" against any interference with civil air traffic through the Berlin corridors.

Identical Allied notes on the subject were delivered in Moscow as the Hamburg newspaper Bild Zeitung reported that the East German Air Force might hold maneuvers in the corridors to test Allied determination on keeping the routes open.

The Western notes said that any change in the air traffic situation "will be the result of aggressive action against established rights by the Soviet government and the East German regime."

As for Khrushchev's expressed willingness to meet with Kennedy, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger pointed out that such offers have been made in public statements, not directly to the president through diplomatic channels.

Other American officials termed the premier's latest offer a cynical effort to make propaganda while still imposing impossible demands on the West.

Drop Soon In Jobless Rate Seen By Dillon

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon said today he expects unemployment to fall below 5 per cent in the next 12 months.

The jobless rate has stuck fast at nearly 7 per cent of the labor force since last December. There are signs "gradual improvement is about to begin," Dillon said.

The secretary hinted broadly that the U.S. may shortly renew pressures on other NATO governments to carry a greater share of the cost of maintaining U.S. Forces in Germany.

He said that "without weakening our defenses or defaulting on our commitments," the United States must "reduce the dollar drain of these forces."

Streetcar Death Case Goes To Jury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The trial of four teen-agers accused of murder in the streetcar death of a 27-year-old [illegible] er went to the jury at 11:30 a.m. today.

The youths are accused of beating and robbing William P. Hall of Ross on April 29 and leaving him on street car tracks. He died beneath the wheels of a streetcar.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Nicholas Deriman asked for a first degree murder conviction against Alexander Robert Hall, Michael Kilkenny, William Castillo, all 17, and Larry Magee, 16.

Defense attorney William Ferdon argued yesterday none of the youths was seen placing Hall on the tracks. He said a case against the teen-agers could not have been built without their statements to police.

Transit Statement Called Malicious

Matt Graham of San Anselmo, Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board president, lashed out today at Adrien J. Falk, Bay Area Rapid Transit District president, for "statements entirely false and malicious."

In a prepared statement presented at the bridge board's meeting, Graham said Falk's charges of "by-play behind the scenes" in the bridge board's attitude toward rapid transit trains on the span was untrue. He said the decision to abide by the engineering findings of Clifford E. Paine had been all open and aboveboard.

"The statements are unbecoming of Mr. Falk," Graham declared. The bridge board accorded every cooperation to the transit district, he claimed.

Graham also hit back at Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy's call for replacement of bridge directors who opposed a review of engineers' findings on rapid transit.

"He knows nothing about the bridge structure," Graham declared.

The bridge president did not find unanimous agreement on the board. The other Marin director, Leland S. Murphy, said he had found Falk "a sincere gentleman" and doubted that Falk had made the remarks attributed to him.

"He was a disappointed man, upset, and it hurt," said Murphy. "If he did say those things, I'm sure it was because he was upset.

"As for McCarthy, I'm certain he said all of them and probably more."

Both Philip F. Davies and Ben K. Lerer resented Graham's attack on Falk. "I don't think you should attack his integrity," said Davies. They, with director Dan London, voted for the engineering review. Both Davies and Lerer promised to "move for reconsideration or review" of the board's rapid transit decision.

Lerer said he hoped the rapid transit board would succeed in getting a review board appointed.

Marin Power Knocked Out By Failure

All of Marin County south of Ignacio was blacked out for four minutes this morning when the Ignacio substation of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. was knocked out of commission.

Lights were out from 11:09 to 11:13, which means that electric clocks were put four minutes behind in all homes where the power failure occurred.

Leonard O. Robertson, district electric superintendent in the San Rafael office of PG&E, said the exact cause of the failure could not be determined immediately. However, the company was able to turn the power back on at Ignacio within four minutes.

Nikita Says Powers May Be Released

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says Francis Gary Powers may be released before his 10-year sentence is up but international tension makes it impossible to free the U-2 pilot from his Soviet prison right now.

Khrushchev told a New York newsman in an interview published today that "Powers himself is not of such value that we would consider it necessary to make him serve his full sentence."

Powers was shot down over the Soviet city of Sverdlovsk on May 1, 1960, and subsequently convicted as a spy.

Two Kentfield Homes Robbed By Jewel Thief

A jewel thief prowled through two homes in Kentfield yesterday and stole about $5,000 worth of valuables, mostly diamond rings.

Mrs. Richard A. Boyd of 10 Tree Top Way told sheriff's deputies she returned to her home yesterday afternoon and discovered two diamond rings missing. One was a platinum wedding ring with five diasmond, and the other an engagement ring with one large and two small diamonds. They were worth $3,500.

Also stolen was a two-quart bottle of whiskey, a 21-inch portable television, and two pillows.

A similar theft occurred at the Kent Woodlands home of Henry W. Wagner Jr., 215 Woodland Avenue.

Mrs. Wagner reported the loss at noon yesterday. A platinum ring with a solitaire diamond worth $1,000 was stolen from the master bedroom, along with a portable radio worth $250. She said the front door had been left unlocked. Other valuables like cameras, binoculars and furs were untouched.

Unification Vote Slated

An election on unification of the Novato Unified and San Jose School districts was set today for Nov. 14.

County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said that was the earliest possible election date since the law requires 60 days prior notification of the county court clerk.

Approval of the unification election was given yesterday by the State Board of Education in San Francisco.

Employment Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Civilian employment in the six Bay Area counties totaled a record 1,167,000 in August, state agencies reported yesterday. There were 67,300 unemployed.

DONKEYS SERENADE IN NOVATO

Novato police, routed by a resident who was routed by a braying beast, chased donkeys on Cherry Street before dawn today.

At 4 a.m., police were called by Everett Petker of 1401 Chase Street.

"There are three asses loose on Cherry Street," complained Petker.

Officers W. W. Knutila and Donal Merkley sped to Cherry Street. There were three burros there, all right. But they proved somewhat elusive.

The lawmen-turned-muleteers finally got a rope on one and tied it in the yard of Frank Hedinger at 673 Cherry Street. The other two donkeys escaped in the dark.

Two hours later, the officers found the owner, Herman Dieckmann of 825 Atherton Avenue. He promised to round up his donkeys.

PARTY BLAST

Rug Cutters Called On The Carpet

The William A. Pomeroys' coming out party for daughter Pinkie at their Sausalito home last night may have been a resounding success for all concerned, but it didn't go too well with neighbors, according to a complaint signed today in the district attorney's office.

The noise from two orchestras kept them awake until 3 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Florence Kerr of 14 Sunshine Avenue complained to Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety. She signed a complaint accusing Pomeroy of disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Kerr said her husband Douglas, a dentist, had oral surgery to perform this morning but could not sleep last night because of the revelry at the Pomeroy party.

District Attorney Garety said he has asked Pomeroy, executive of a contracting and engineering firm, to appear for arraignment in Marin Municipal Court Moday afternoon.

Last night's coming out party for Pinkie Pomeroy, a University of California co-ed, was widely publicized as one of the social highlights of the year. Ernie Heckscher's orchestra

'Goodie' Back In Capital With His Eyes On Dome

SACRAMENTO (AP) —"Goodie" Knight came back to the state capital today with a definite glint in his eye.

There was no doubt, as he sat talking in a hotel lobby across from Capitol Park, that the glint was directed at regaining the job of governor he held from 1953 to 1958.

Winding up a Northern California tour, Goodwin J. Knight declared he was encouraged by the reception along the way and he's "very much interested" in running.

He said former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's plans won't keep him out of the race if he, Knight, decides to get into it.

"My decision," he said, "will be based on the issues, not personalities."

Knight, 64, and ebullient as ever, said it was "the biggest piece of sophistry I've ever heard that only Nixon could beat Brown." He said, too, he's confident of his chances in a Republican primary against Nixon.

The former Republican governor said a Nixon-Brown contest would be "a very tough fight." As for his own chances against the Democratic incumbent:

GEN. WALKER DISCLOSED BY PENTAGON AS BIRCHER

But Army Report Says His Troop Plan Had Little Similarity With Society

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon has disclosed that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, former commander of the 24th infantry division, was a member of the controversial John Birch Society.

However, an Army official report on the events leading up to Walker's loss of command maintained that there was only a coincidental similarity between the Birch Society's program and Walker's own "pro-blue" anti-Communist indoctrination program for troops.

The Army report, signed by Lt. Gen. Frederic J. Brown, inspector general for the case, was made public yesterday after it was supplied to the Senate Armed Services Committee. The committee is considering whether to investigate an alleged conspiracy to muzzle anti-Communist statements of military leaders.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara completed two days of testimony on Pentagon public affairs policies. The committee will meet Monday to deal with a request by Sen. Strom Thurmond, (D-S.C.), for a full-scale investigation.

The Army's report on Walker, an 80-page document dealing with a variety of allegations, included the conclusions on which the much decorated officer was given an official admonishment and stripped of his European command. It said:

Walker made derogatory statements, alleging leftist influence on former President Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and similar statements against three noted newsmen, Edward R. Murrow, Walter Cronkite and Eric Severeid.

GEN. EDWIN WALKER
Listed in report

Walker violated the law and army regulations by attempting to influence the 1960 elections by referring his troops to a voting analysis with a "conservative bias."

A main feature of the report was its appraisal of Walker and his membership in the Birch Society.

"Maj. Gen. Walker is a sincere, deeply religious, patriotic soldier dedicated to the nation and the Army," the report said. "He is an eccentric and is not only violently anti-Communist but has been for years, working at it with a passion, studying, lecturing and reading all literature on the subject."

CONSERVATIVE IN LINE FOR BRAZIL POST

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — A balding businessman with conservative political tendencies was in line today for the post of prime minister, the man who will wield the power in Brazil's government.

Tancredo Neves, 51, was approved for the post by his party, the Social Democrats, who control Congress with the right-of-center National Democratic Union in a bloc of 200 votes.

President Joao Goulart, wealthy rancher and key figure in the 14-day crisis that began with the resignation of President Janio Quadros, made the official choice with an eye cocked on the poltical makeup of Congress.

Tunis Agrees To Let France Stay Awhile

TUNIS (AP)—President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia today agreed to let France keep the strategic Bizerte naval base as long as the danger of a major world war exists.

In a major conciliatory offer to iron out the smouldering dispute over Bizerte, the Tunisian chief of state said he is ready to begin talks to obtain a "modus vivendi concerning the utilization of the base during the dangerous period."

Once the danger is over, Bourguiba told a news conference, "the agreement would be followed by negotiations on the total evacuation" of the base by the French.

This shift from Bourguiba's militant policy on Bizerte apparently stemmed from a statement by French President Charles de Gaulle at a news conference Tuesday.

De Gaulle said that France eventually would have to negotiate a withdrawal from Bizerte but it would be impossible to pull out in the present state of international tension.

Bourguiba flew home Wednesday from the Belgrade, Yugoslavia, conference of nonaligned nations as tension mounted in Bizerte.

Bourguiba said today he is also willing to negotiate with France the Tunisian claims to a portion of the Sahara.

Wagner Wins Primary —DeSapio Is Defeated

NEW YORK (AP) — A smashing victory by Mayor Robert F. Wagner on an "anti-bossism" platform today wrecked the city's old line Democratic organization, led by Tammany Hall Chief Carmine G. DeSapio.

Wagner, backed by insurgents, defeated the organization candidate, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, in a record outpouring of voters for a Democratic primary.

The final vote was 451,458 to 291,672. The total vote of 743,130 bettered the previous Democratic primary mark of 718,000 set in 1937.

Wagner will face State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Wefkowitz, unopposed for the Republican nomination, in the Nov. 7 general election.

Other insurgents won sufficient district leadership fights to have a good chance of control of Tammany, the Manhattan Democratic organization.

To top it off, DeSapio lost his own district leadership in Greenwich Village to James S. Lanigan, a Harvard-educated lawyer.

That in itself sent DeSapio into political eclipse because the New York County, or Tammany, leader is chosen only from among district leaders.

Wagner said in a victory statement shortly after midnight that the outcome was a triumph for "Democrats who want decency to rule their party."

He said the voters had repudiated DeSapio and that "the other party bosses must go as quickly as possible."

Chief among the others are Rep. Charles A. Buckley of the Bronx and Joseph T. Sharkey of Brooklyn, the City Council majority leader.

Wagner had the support of all the organization leaders in winning the mayoralty in 1953 and 1957, but split with them this year.

DeSapio, a veteran political professional, appeared philosophical about his defeat.

He said the Democratic voters had made their decision "and, in the final analysis, they are the real bosses, and there is no alternative but to abide by their decision."

Emily Dickinson wrote nearly 3,000 short poems, only three of which were published while she lived.

Warning Given On Corridors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today gave the Soviet Union a new warning "in the most solemn terms" against any interference with Allied flights in the air corridors between West Germany and West Berlin.

The Western powers told the Kremlin any change in the air transport situation "will be the result of aggressive action against established rights by the Soviet government and the East German regime."

DELIVERED TODAY

The Allied notes were delivered in Moscow this morning. They rejected the Soviet contention that the United States, Britain and France do not have unrestricted right of air transport in and out of West Berlin.

The notes, about 1,500 words long, were described as identical.

"Rights with respect to air access to Berlin," the Soviet Union was told, "derive from precisely the same source as do the rights of the USSR in East Germany and East Berlin; namely, the joint military defeat of the German Reich and the joint assumption of supreme authority over Germany.

LONG PRACTICE

"These rights are confirmed by the circumstances under which the four powers entered Germany, by their subsequent discussions and agreements, and by open and established practice over a period of 15 years."

The form of the dispute as developed in a series of exchanges between Moscow and the Western capitals in recent weeks is legalistic. But U.S. officials fear that it foreshadows future Communist moves to try to impose limits on use of the Berlin air corridors.

Washington officials say the Western powers are fully determined not to permit any interference with the Berlin air traffic even if the Soviet Union makes a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

D.C. STATEMENT

Basic U.S. policy was laid down in a White House statement Aug. 24 responding to an earlier Soviet attack on Western use of the flight lanes.

The White House declared that any interference with Allied access to West Berlin would be considered an aggressive act for which the Soviet government would be held responsible. It also rejected Moscow's charges that troublemakers were being flown into West Berlin.

Letter From Shepard

KEARNEY, N.J. (AP)—A letter from America's first astronaut, Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., has brought encouragement and resolve to a 10-year-old boy who needs a second open-heart operation.

The boy, Louis Laurich, had begun to despair when he learned that a patch placed on his heart to correct a leak didn't hold properly. Doctors had scheduled a second operation for Oct. 10 at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

The letter, accompanied by an autographed picture of Shepard, was the result of an attempt by the boy's father to encourage his son to take the operation.

Shepard urged the boy to follow the doctors' advice.

Miss Burns Recovering

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Barbara Burns, 22, who once said she had "disappointed Mom and Dad from the beginning," was recovering today in a hospital psychiatric ward from her second suicide attempt in two weeks.

A psychiatrist at general hospital ordered her transferred to the ward under a 72-hour legal emergency hold order.

The daughter of the late hillbilly comedian Bob (Bazooka) Burns was found Wednesday night on the floor of her Hollywood apartment, apparently the victim of an overdose of some form or depressant.

Blondes Ahead

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Blondes are continuing to lead their brunette and red-haired competitors in the Miss America Pageant with Miss Utah and Miss Arkansas the winners in the second round of preliminary competition.

Carolyn Lasater, Miss Utah, won the talent contest last night with a pantomime dance. She wore a dress which she designed, that converts from a nightgown to a business dress to an evening gown.

Miss Arkansas, Frances Jane Anderson, caught the judges' nods in the swimsuit contest as she strolled down the 120-foot runway before an audience of 7,157.

Miss America of 1962 will be crowned tomorrow night.

State Draft Quota

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A total of 1,464 men will be drafted in California next month, according to Col. Kenneth Leitch, state director of selective service.

That will be the state's share of the 20,000 men to be called throughout the nation. In September, slightly more than 1,800 men were scheduled for the draft.

Algeria Clash

ALGIERS (AP) — The French army today reported killing or capturing 83 Algerian rebels during operations in the bush Tuesday and Wednesday.

Among those killed were two chieftains of rebel military districts, the army said.

The French causalties were not given.

Ben-Gurion Decision

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—David Ben-Gurion was under pressure today from his political associates to change his mind about refusing to head a new Israeli government.

The 74-year-old premier, who has headed a caretaker government since Jan. 31, also told President Izhak Ben-Zvi that he is taking leave of the army which he has headed for 12 years as a defense minister.

Hurricane Warning

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Five hundred miles of U.S. coast line was placed under hurricane watch today as a massive storm moved on a northwestward path through the Gulf of Mexico.

The warning to "get ready" for fierce winds and destructive tides from big and growing Hurricane Carla was extended to include the entire Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama coasts and eastward to Apalachicola, Fla.

Parley Urged

STRASBOURG, France (AP)—The council of Europe's political committee approved a resolution yesterday urging the West to open negotiations with the Soviet Union on "the whole German problem." The resolution will be submitted to the assembly of the Council of Europe at the fall session starting Sept. 19.

G.M., Union Hopeful About Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Barring further wildcat strikes, General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers hope to wrap up over the weekend a labor contract the union estimates would give G.M.'s 350,000 hourly employees an increase of more than 12 cents an hour each year in take-home pay. It will be a three-year contract.

The company and the union late yesterday—in a move to calm restive workers — disclosed details of their national agreement. Unauthorized walkouts yesterday had idled 12,800 men at six plants.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther sent troubleshooters by chartered planes to Fisher body stamping plants in Mansfield, Ohio; Marion, Ind.; and Pittsburgh, Pa., to get workers back on the job. Reuther blamed the strikes on confu-

FRIENDSHIP BEGINS—An unidentified white girl engaged in conversation with a Negro girl during recess yesterday at desegregated McDonogh public school in New Orleans. The pair chatted during the mid-morning recess but the Negro girl did not participate in games. She is the only Negro at McDonogh. (AP Wirephoto)

New Orleans Schools Open Without Trouble

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Negro first grader hesitated a moment and then said, "Well it's all right," when told by his mother that he was going to school with white pupils in New Orleans.

The hesitant acceptance typified the reaction of many a youngster faced with a new situation created by the gradual, peaceful spread of public school desegregation this year.

The little boy was one of 12 Negro children who walked into six New Orleans schools on the first day of the second year of token integration.

Police were out in force and the areas around the schools were barricaded in the same manner used successfully at such other major cities as Dallas and Atlanta.

There wasn't a catcall or a boo at New Orleans in marked contrast to last fall when noisy hecklers forced an almost complete boycott of McDonogh No. 19 and William Frantz, the only two schools to admit Negroes at that time.

However, the number of white pupils was off sharply at the six schools, with only 1,714 present out of the 2,555 enrolled. This may have been due in part to parental fear of possible violence.

School Supt. O. Perry Walker said he felt the peace of the first day would lead to quick enrollment increases.

Dallas had a bomb scare on the second day of integrated classes but it proved to be a hoax. A fire drill was held at Roger Q. Mills School after an anonymous telephone caller said a bomb would detonate at 9:30 a.m. The 370 pupils filed out while police searched the building.

Otherwise the 18 Negro first graders attended eight desegregated schools without incident.

At Galveston, Tex., 39 Negro kindergarten and first grade pupils spent a second quiet day at formerly white schools.

In Houston, however, the Rev. John A. Bosman, an Episcopal rector, said acceptance of a Negro kindergarten pupil caused parents to withdraw 10 children from the day school of St. Michael's School. But, he said, later registrations replaced three of the withdrawals.

About 40 Negro parents picketed Glenfield School at Montclair, N.J., carrying signs saying the school's facilities were inadequate and demanding it be closed.

WHITE PUPIL ENROLLS AT NEGRO SCHOOL

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A white pupil has enrolled at a previously all-Negro high school here. He is believed to be the first white student in the school's history, officials say.

James C. Hardcastle, supervising principal of the William W. M. Henry Comprehensive High School, saidi there "was no tension whatsoever" yesterday when the 15-year-old white boy enrolled along with some 600 Negroes.

Hardcastle declined to reveal the boy's name. He called the action a "healthy sign" and said he hoped more white students would enroll.

VFW In Mill Valley Sets Barbecue Date

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 6741 of Mill Valley, will hold a chicken barbecue Sept. 17 at Boyle Park at 1 p.m., Adjutant Walter Filippi said today. The event is open to the public.

Post Commander Ted Greubel announced at list's meeting that Sept. 24 is "VFW Day North," and the veterans home at Yountville is extending a special invitation to visitors that day. The post hosted Sausalito, Novato and San Rafael VFW posts last night.

A.F. Launches Second Titan In Two Nights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has missed its summer target for getting the first potent Titan intercontinental missiles in place.

But it expects to have the first nine Titans in firing position at Lowery Air Force Base in Colorado within the next few months.

In a test of the missile's inertial guidance system for a future more powerful model, the Air Force last night successfully launched its second Titan in two nights from Cape Canaveral.

Officials said the bullet-shaped projectile performed as planned, sending its nose cone racing at more than 15,000 miles an hour into a target area 5,000 miles down the Atlantic Tracking Range.

The launching followed Wednesday night's successful Titan flight over a 6,100-mile course.

The flights brought the total of successful Titan tests to 28 in 40 attempts. Eight of the others were rated as partial successes.

The Titan is the second U. S. intercontinental ballistic missile. It's estimated 380,000-pound thrust engines make it somewhat more potent than the Atlas, the first U. S. ICBM. The Atlas has been combat-ready for some time.

The 98-foot, two-stage Titan will mount a nuclear warhead packing the explosive equivalent of between two and three million tons of TNT.

In the past, the Air Force has said it expected to bring the Titan to fighting status this summer.

Asked about this, the Air Force said it now anticipates the mighty rocket to become operational before the end of this year.

A spokesman said the delay was attributable in part to labor difficulties and weather.

The first nine Titans, plus a spare, will be installed in 165-foot-deep reinforced concrete siles at Lowry Air Force Base near Denver. If word is given for firing, concrete doors at ground level will slide open and the Titans will be raised to launch position above the surface.

Another nine-missile squadron at Lowry and four other Titan I squadrons in South Dakota, California, Washington state, and Idaho are due to swell the nation's nuclear striking strength next year.

Fallout From Soviet A-Test Due Over U.S. This Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government fallout expert said today the cloud of radioactive debris from the first of four recent Soviet nuclear tests is expected to cross the northern United States by this weekend.

Dr. Lester Machta of the U.S. Weather Bureau said he could not estimate when debris from the three later tests would reach this country. But that debris, together with some more from the first test, may pass over the entire country, he said.

Machta said some fallout will reach the earth wherever the radioactive cloud passes over—and will continue to as the cloud keeps circling the earth.

But he offered a qualified view that the amount of fallout deposited on the United States would be no greater from the first four Soviet tests "than it has been from any of our own test series in Nevada in the past."

He said this estimate is based on a hopeful assumption that none of the four devices exceeded 50,000 tons of TNT equivalent in explosive yield. He pointed out that the Atomic Energy Commission has given no specific figures on the estimated yields of the Soviet tests.

Machta, one of the nation's foremost researchers on fallout distribution, made the comments in explaining a map he prepared projecting the course of the fallout cloud from the first test last Friday.

The map traces the path of the cloud from west to east through a high level of the troposphere—the part of the atmosphere from the surface of the earth to about 50,000 feet.

Machta chose the 30,000 to 40,000 foot level because it has the strongest winds.

He said the cloud passed in a generally easterly direction from the Central Asian detonation site — spanning the Asian mainland, then crossing the Bering Sea.

It crossed all of Alaska Monday and Tuesday and at the same time went over Western Canada.

Machta estimated that by yesterday, the cloud passed over Montana, Washington, Idaho and northern Nevada and the southern part of Canada.

Thereafter, he forecasts, it will move east over at least the northern half of the United States. By Sunday, it should begin passing over the Atlantic toward Europe.

The Weather Bureau scientist said he believed that fallout spewn by the three latest tests still is moving across Asia.

He declared that fallout from weapons of less than 50,000 tons TNT equivalent essentially would be limited to tropospheric travel — as distinguished from travel in the stratosphere, which is above 40,000 feet.

And half of any given amount of debris at tropospheric levels would be expected to fall to the earth in 20 to 30 days, although much of it would have lost its radioactivity before reaching the earth. Rainfall increases the speed of fallout.

Van Dervort Hits Back In Divorce Case

Former San Francisco Police Inspector Frank Van Dervort, 40, of Fairfax, sued for divorce by his wife last June, fought back yesterday with a sizzling cross-complaint accusing her of everything from intoxication to promiscuity.

Married in Oakland in 1946, they separated last May. Mrs. Dorothy Van Dervort, 35, lives at the family home at 12 San Gabriel Court, Fairfax. He has moved out to San Francisco, where he is a brewery executive.

On June 12, she filed for divorce. She contended he drank to excess, beat her, and threatened her life.

Yesterday, he came back with accusations of his own, which include these:

She has drunk to such an extent that she became irrational and fluctuated from feelings of exhilaration to deep depression. At social gatherings, she becomes obstreperous, promiscuous and castigates him.

At a Westlake dinner party, she became intoxicated and flirted with houseguests. She left the party, rang doorbells in the vicinity, and "solicited male householders to come with her as she declared openly that she was available to all comers."

She has "both privately and publicly denounced the manhood of the cross-complainant (Van Dervort)."

"On numerous occasions both privately and publicly, she informed cross complainant that although there are three children in the family, none bear any resemblance to the cross-complainant and that he ought to be able to guess which ones he fathered."

In July of 1960 she burned his valuable papers including a letter of commendation from Gen. Douglas MacArthur and meritorious citations from the San Francisco Police Department.

played until about 2 a.m. in the Pomeroys' hillside Japanese garden, followed by Al Trobbe's band.

Sausalito Police Chief Howard Goerndt said police received three or four calls last night from Dr. and Mrs. Kerr and about two other calls from other neighbors complaining about the orchestra.

At 3 a.m. Chief Goerndt said he went to the Pomeroy home himself, and the party was breaking up. Pomeroy told the chief it was the first party he had had in 20 years.

Chamber President Resigns In Larkspur

Fred Ulner resigned as president of the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce by letter yesterday but through a mixup the chamber did not immediately learn of his action.

Ulner left his letter at the Lark Grill, new meeting place of the chamber, but the news did not reach the group until Ulner talked by phone today to Mrs. Mabelle Culpepper, chamber secretary, who will pick up the letter later today.

Chris Schlag, vice president, who chaired yesterday's meeting, will serve as president pending an election.

The meeting yesterday was told by Larkspur City Manager Ronald E. Piper that sales tax returns this year were three per cent higher than last year.

Kenneth Andersen, in charge of Christmas decorations in Larkspur, announced the annual merchants' open house, when residents may get an advance look at Christmas merchandise, will be held on Sunday, Nov. 5.

In his letter of resignation Ulner, proprietor of a television store in Larkspur, said he soon will move his residence to Sonoma and this would prevent his giving the time needed to duties as chamber president.

Ross Council Buys New Pickup Truck

The Ross Town Council last night bought a 1962, one-half ton, Chevrolet pickup truck from Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet Co. of Mill Valley for $1,790, including trade-in of a 1941 truck.

Of the five bids received by the council, one was slightly lower than the selected bid. Councilmen chose the Campbell-Bishop bid because of additional equipment on the truck.

A contract for reconstruction of Poplar Avenue was not awarded by the council because the low bid of $9,906 by O. C. Jones Construction Co. of Kentfield exceeded the estimated cost by more than 10 per cent.

Cost of the project was estimated by City Engineer John C. Oglesby at $8,859. Inasmuch as state gasoline tax funds will be used for the street reconstruction, the estimate must be returned to the state for reappraisal.

The council will sit as a planning commission on Sept. 14 at 8 p.m. to continue discussions on the new town zoning ordinance and master plan.

Boy, 2, Bitten —Dog Sought

A gray-white, sickly looking, chow-type dog was sought today in Novato after it bit a 2-year-old boy on the right ear.

Thomas Wilder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilder of 570 Arlington Avenue, walked into a three-dog fight and was bitten yesterday. Two of the dogs were located. One had received rabies shots. The other had not, and was quarantined. But the third dog, which bit the boy, had not been found today.

Novato police, the Marin Humane Society and neighbors joined the search unsuccessfully. Police asked that anyone who had seen a dog answering the description notify them.

opened at the board meeting Sept. 29. The job is expected to take eight months, and the contractor must agree not to interfere with traffic on the bridge during peak commuting hours.

The board appropriated $1,000 for ventilation of its meeting room, rejected a proposal to illuminate the towers, and heard a report that bus shelters are being erected on both sides of the highway at the toll plaza. Referred to the joint building-operating and finance committee was a proposal that the district cooperate fully with the state in studying a second crossing to Marin.

Sea Food Grotto Plans Opening In Sausalito

Casserino's, a sea food grotto, will open tomorrow on the Dock at Bridgeway and Napa Street in Sausalito for weekend business.

Owned by Cass Gidley of Mill Valley, the grotto will specialize in fish and chips, crab and shrimp cocktails, and steamed clams and chowders, which will be served at outside tables on the Dock.

It will also display fresh fish, in season, to be sold daily. The grotto will be open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Gidley's Lighthouse Crab Co., in the same location, will continue to purchase fish from the fishermen, Gidley said. Gidley's seven crab trucks will be on their regular runs

Sebastopol Girl In Vagrancy Charge

An 18-year-old Sebastopol girl, found in an automobile last night at the end of Cloninda Avenue in San Rafael where she reportedly had gone in the company of at least six youths, was arrested for vagrancy and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Charlotte Michele DeSalles was found alone in the car, police said, the youths having fled on arrival of police. Six boys, 16 to 18 years of age, were rounded up and questioned.

Police said the girl had been asked to leave Sonoma County by authorities there.

Debutante Leaves $114,000 Estate

Sara Hathaway Dakin, 21, of 330 Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, who fell to death from the roof of University of California Hospital on July 30, left an estate worth $114,000, according to a petition filed in Marin Superior Court.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Y. Dakin of Belvedere. Dakin is an importer.

Dakin filed the petition yesterday, asking that letters of administration be issued to him.

Recreation Site Job

Trustees of the Strawberry Recreation District last night approved payment of approximately $5,250 for first and second phases of grading of the recreation site on Belvedere Drive by Piombo Brothers of San Rafael.

Hysterical Woman Sets Homes Afire

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Helen Vernon screamed, "My children are buried in the gas sewer!" after setting fires yesterday in her own home and those of eight neighbors.

Police subdued Mrs. Vernon, 44, wife of an insurance agent, and put her under guard in St. Joseph's Hospital. Her children actually were in school at the time.

Two other women were hospitalized along with Mrs. Vernon. Mrs. Wilbur Warner suffered burns on the neck and face after Mrs. Vernon poured gasoline on her. Mrs. Roger O. Valdiserri became hysterical after Mrs. Vernon started a fire at her home.

Abuse Ruled Out In Whack At Felon

A San Quentin Prison correctional officer who hit convict Edward Riddle, 23, with a night stick last April 29 was acting properly and within his rights, according to an investigation conducted by the district attorney.

In a petition to Marin Superior Court yesterday, Riddle, a burglar from Los Angeles, contended he was maimed without provocation.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety announced today the incident was investigated by A. W. Adam Jr. of his office last May at the request of Warden Fred R. Dickson. Garety said he also informed the Marin County Grand Jury of what had happened.

Riddle's brother also came in to the district attorney's office and spoke with Asst. Dist. Atty Bruce B. Bales a few days after the incident. "He seemed satisfied that the prison officials had acted properly," Bales reported at that time.

The district attorney said his investigation revealed that on April 29, Riddle entered the north dining hall where a movie was being shown. Since the movie was coming to an end, and everyone was about to leave, Correctional Officer Raymond W. Stanley told Riddle to leave. Riddle balked and began using profanity.

Stanley then took Riddle to the office for interrogation. As they entered the office, Riddle turned and hit Stanley on the chin. A scuffle followed, and Stanley had to use a stick to subdue Riddle, Garety reported.

Investigator Adam said he talked to other convicts and was told that Officer Stanley had been polite throughout the incident, but Riddle was abusive toward the officers.

Five Girls Perish In Roaring Blaze

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A roaring fire in a two-story frame residence claimed the lives of five girls here in the pre-dawn darkness today.

All the victims were sisters, ranging in age from 5 to 18.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Randall, and two other children escaped.

Dead were Frances Randall, 18; Patricia, 10; Carol, 8; Edna, 7, and Kathleen, 5.

Battalion chief Leo Wiedner said "when the first company arrived at the house, it was burning like a torch . . . completely engulfed in flames."

The parents were sleeping downstairs and the children in bedrooms upstairs.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Diana Chirone Succumbs

Mrs. Diana Chirone, a resident of San Anselmo for over 50 years, died in a local hospital last evening after a four-year illness with a heart condition. She was 76.

She was the widow of Emilio Chirone, a cook, who died in 1958.

Mrs. Chirone moved to San Anselmo from San Francisco in 1906, following the earthquake and fire. She resided at 35 City Hall Avenue.

She was a member of the Senior Citizens of Marin.

She leaves five daughters and three sons: Mrs. Lillian Allen of San Francisco, Mrs. Eleanor Slowdownick of Novato, Mrs. Anita Hallmark of Sunnyvale, Mrs. Frances Matly, Antoinette Chirone and Paul and Tony Chirone of San Anselmo, and Louis Chirone of San Francisco; two brothers, Hugo and Rudolph Ratto of Redwood City; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Low Mass will be said tomorrow at 9 a.m., and family services at 9:30 at St. Anselm's Catholic Church, San Anselmo.

ANETTA ROBERTSON

Memorial services for Mrs. Anetta Adair Robertson, who died Wednesday at her home at 312 H Street, San Rafael, after long illness, were held today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Los Gatos.

Mrs. Robertson moved here in July with her daughter, Mrs. Muriel Hill, with whom she had made her home in St. Louis since the death of her husband, Richard R. Robertson, a San Jose attorney, 18 years ago.

She leaves her daughter; a son, Merritt Adair Lewis of Georgetown, Colo.; a brother, Clarence Adair of San Francisco, and numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

AUGUSTA HILL

Mrs. Augusta C. Hill, 73, of 108 Hawthorne Avenue, Larkspur, died yesterday afternoon in a local hospital of a heart ailment.

Mrs. Hill had resided 10 years in Marin County. She was a lifetime resident of California.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Frances M. Richards of Corte Madera; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Curry of Eureka and Mrs. Lena Frayer of Oakland, and two grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

ERNEST DURFEE

Private funeral services for Ernest M. Durfee, 90, who died Wednesday at a local rest home, were held today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Durfee and his wife, Fanny Durfee, resided for six years at 46 Ryan Avenue, Mill Valley, at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers. He is also survived by three grandchildren.

A native of Michigan, Durfee was a pioneer of Montana and at one time drove a stage coach between Idaho and Montana. He had worked as a lumberman and warehouseman until his retirement a few years ago.

He had been under a doctor's care for the past year but was active until a few days before his death. He was well known along Ryan Avenue for the assistance and advice he gave neighbors on their gardening problems.

Inurnment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

WILLIAM COOK

William E. (Bill) Cook, 70, Sonoma County lawman who died after a deer hunt in Marin County on Tuesday, was buried yesterday at Rural Cemetery in Santa Rosa.

Cook, brother of Raymond Cook of 28 Harte Avenue, San Rafael, had been a Sonoma County sheriff's deputy for 24 years. He died of what appeared to be a heart attack following a hunting trip with friends on the Clarence B. Maggetti ranch near Marshall.

Attending the funeral were Marin County Undersheriff Eugene A. Meyer and eight officers in full uniform.

Cook is also survived by his wife, Jimella C. Cook of Santa Rosa; another brother, Marvin Cook of Santa Rosa; and two sisters, Mrs. Daniel Silviera and Mrs. Daisy Haywood of Napa.

LUCILLE BONNER

Lucille Bonner, 44, of Stinson Beach died yesterday at a local hospital after an illness of several years.

She was the wife of Carl R. Bonner, a carpenter who works for the West Marin Building Supply at Stinson Beach.

A native of Tennessee, she lived six years at the Beach village.

She is survived by her husband; a sister, Mrs. Leroy Bourland of Memphis, Tenn., and two brothers, Frank and George Howell of Amory, Miss.

Funeral services and interment will be at Amory, Miss. Arrangements are being handled in Mill Valley by Russell and Gooch Mortuary.

Marinwood Park Proposal Gets Going-Over By Panel

More than 100 Marinwood residents joined a panel discussion on a proposed $405,000 bond issue for recreation facilities last night at the Mary E. Silveira School.

Speaking to the group were Robert Lagle of the county planning staff; George Donaldson of the county auditor's office, and Gladys Snyder, recreation specialist with the State Division of Recreation.

The Sept. 19 bond issue, if passed, would finance a community building, firehouse, park, playground and swimming pool on a 10½-acre site at Miller Creek and Lucas Valley Roads.

Cost of the bonds, estimated by Donaldson at 7 per cent interest, would be in the neighborhood of $25 per year per family.

The estimate, Donaldson said, was probably high. He said the bonds might go at around 3½ to 4 per cent interest. "It is not possible to determine the exact cost until after the sale of bonds," he said. Seven per cent is the maximum interest permitted by law.

Total cost of the issue, at the maximum 7 per cent over 30 years, would be $928,628, Donaldson estimated.

Explaining the method by which land is set aside for schools, recreational and church uses in a planned community, Lagle said he did not know how long areas could be maintained if they were not used for the purpose for which they were set aside.

The site is now under condemnation proceedings, with the final price to be decided by a jury. Charles M. Johnson, chairman of the Marinwood Community Services District Board, said the board had figured $135,000 as the probable cost of the land. If it ran higher, such items as park area walks, shuffleboard courts, benches, drinking fountains and sunbathing shelters would be dropped from the project.

"Get this as quickly as you can—before it is too late," urged Miss Snyder, who said she had been travelling in the 11 coastal counties since 1948 advising on similar projects.

Richard Deacon of Marinwood told the Independent-Journal yesterday that "an angry group of 50 residents" had formed the Marinwood Citizens Committee to oppose "the pig-in-a-poke deal."

Deacon, in announcing formation of the anti-bond committee, said it would "wage a vigorous and determined campaign against the bond proposal." He announced Richard E. Lane as co-chairman, George H. Allen as secretary. He said James D. Hadfield had been retained as attorney and J. Warnock Walsh Jr. had been appointed public relations man.

Strangler Given Stay Of Execution

SAN QUENTIN (AP)—Charles E. Brubaker, who was scheduled to die in the gas chamber here Tuesday for murdering a Los Angeles woman and her son, won a U.S. Supreme Court stay of execution yesterday.

Attorneys for the 41-year-old former gas station attendant argued he had not received adequate legal defense.

Brubaker was convicted of strangling Mrs. Irene Potter Morey, 40, a divorcee, and her son, Craig.

State Board Of Education Votes Against Loyalty Questionnaires

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The State Board of Education voted 6-3 yesterday against expanding its use of loyalty questionnaires to determine who gets California teaching credentials.

A subcommittee of the board had recommended that all applicants for new and renewed teaching credentials should be asked to answer questions on present or previous affiliations with communism or fascism.

Presently the education department can send questionnaires to new applicants for teaching credentials if information questioning the applicants background turns up.

Bishop Gerald Kennedy, of Los Angeles supported the board's rejection. He said the proposed language asking about affiliation with communism, nazism and fascism was loose. Kennedy is a board member.

Walace W. Hall, associate superintendent of public instruction, was named to head the State Education Department's new junior college division at the meeting. Ronald W. Cox, assistant chief of the administration division the past 13 years, was appointed chief.

Hottest discussion concerned southern Kern County, where it was estimated a proposed new high school would have fewer than 30 students by 1970, making it expensive and limited in curriculum.

The board voted five to four in favor of the school. Six votes are needed for approval. Another vote may be taken at next month's meeting at Bakersfield.

Unification proposals for Davis and Fairfield districts in Solano County and Rivera and Ranchita districts in Los Angeles County were approved.

There's only ONE measure

of your confidence

... in your newspaper

Each day, readers "measure" their newspaper by what they see, by what they like. No two readers have the same tastes. Some prefer national news, others local. Some turn first to sports, others to the editorial. To survive, a newspaper must cover all readers interests. This is what makes a newspaper as "alive", as diverse, as the world it reports.

How then, can a newspaper measure the interest of its readers? Is there a means beyond opinion? Fortunately, readers all see eye to eye on this: a paper worth reading is worth paying for. It's as simple as that—yet the very life of a newspaper hangs upon it.

An exact count of paid circulation, therefore, is the only way your confidence and interest can be measured. To do this, we at the I-J open our books to the analytical eye of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. They do the counting; we don't. They say what our paid circulation is. They prove, by thorough audit, that others paid as you did. They confirm your confidence as a reader—the most valued asset a newspaper ever earned.

Here's how ABC "runs a survey" on circulation

Each year, one of ABC's 70 trained auditors from national headquarters comes to our offices and analyses our entire circulation. Where is it? Is it paid? By whom? What are the exact figures? How was circulation obtained? The survey is as accurate and impartial as the lens of a transit. The ABC auditor even maps out our circulation areas . . . city zone, retail trading zone. Every last copy must be accounted for.

Findings are published nationally by the Audit Bureau of Circulations for all to see—readers, advertisers, advertising agencies. Our circulation figure, then, is not a claim. It is not "stretched." It is a fact . . . placed on the solid backdrop of integrity.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Try The Embers In Corte Madera If You're Looking For A Treat

A likely place you might have overlooked in your dining rounds is the Embers in Corte Madera, which bears no more resemblance to the previous establishment here — the Captain's Room—than its location on the map.

We found it eminently worthy of mention this week, not only in good taste, comfort and decor, but in its food and the serving thereof. Our separate entree choices were the Embers' special top sirloin steak, a delectible morsel of good beef (only about 14 ounces of it, avoirdupois) and the veal Paradisa, a prize among the select recipes of Yolanda Apostoli's mother. This is an interesting departure from scallopini—with avocado, fresh tomato and Mozzarella cheese.

Chefs here are Wally Price in the evening and Tex Trent on the luncheon shift—both capable in the cooking line and well known in Marin.

As it was a Tuesday evening, we found Al Mackay at the piano bar with his rhythm "side box." I've known Al for many years but haven't had the occasion to listen to his playing since way back. I must say that it's even better than it used to be. He's also here on Monday nights, and the rest of the week at San Rafael Joe's.

Vaughn Marchand is at the Embers piano bar Wednesdays through Sundays (he's at Goman's Gay Nineties in San Francisco on Mondays)—an extremely popular entertainer on both sides of the bay.

The Embers-Corte Madera. Put it down on your list of place to visit and let me know what you think.

NEVILLE'S on the Boardwalk in Tiburon which has been flourishing for about two months where Herbert's Sherbet Shoppe was formerly located is now about to do some expanding. Construction has been started on a new dining room to seat about 50. It will be a sort of contemporary English tavern, serve charcoal broiled items plus some of Neville Nowell's specialties and be ready to open about Oct. 15.

OUT at the Gambit in Santa Venetia, George Burdette Smith announces that the Freddie Gambrell Jazz trio is booked to appear every night of the week except Monday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. They'll start next Tuesday.

The Gambrell Trio has appeared at the Black Hawk and Jazz Workshop.

WE DON'T ordinarily give much space to San Francisco restaurants, which is as it should be in the line of local duty, but the list of headliners scheduled for entertainment at New Fack's in that city seems to call for a few lines.

Opening last night was Barbara McNair of Nat "King" Cole's show; coming attractions include Duke Ellington Sept. 26, Dorothy Louden on Oct. 3, Mel Torme reappearing Oct. 17 and Joe Williams Oct. 31.

BLUE PLATE. Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club is looking — of all things — for peacocks. Eugene Lackenbach has four of them next to his San Rafael pancake patio but he won't let them go. . . . We hear that following the reception Aug. 25 at the home of the late Captain Robert Dollar for his granddaughter Heidi Hickingbotham, more than a few of the 400 assembly convened later at La Petite Auberge in San Rafael. It must have been a tight squeeze. . . .

LENSMAN Ken Molino just discovered that his uncle John Caruso of Redwood City, aged 90, used to fish 70 years ago with Angelo Sabella's father Luciano, also aged 90. Both nonagenarians had large families of children—Luciano 12, and John that many or more.

Interesting present day development is that one of the sons of each is separated from the other by little more than the Richardson Bay Bridge, with Angelo Sabella at the north end and Tony Caruso of Caruso's Bait Shop at the south.

And Molino, who is in the same generation but a younger member, commutes between them with a camera in his hand doing photographic work for both.

AMIABLE SWINDLER — Ernie Kovacs plays an amiable swindler as he stars with lovely Cyd Charisse and George Saunders in "Five Golden Hours," coming to the Rafael Theater Sunday as co-feature with "Two Rode Together."

Youth Gang Leaders Ask Understanding

By JOE DILL

CHICAGO (AP)—"Little Man" stood in darkness behind a wooden screen. His audience couldn't see him, but they knew him by reputation as boss of a gang of young neighborhood toughs.

And they paid close attention to what he said.

"If we had a better police department," his high-pitched voice broke into the stillness, "I wouldn't be an ex-con today."

"Little Man," who is about five feet, three inches tall, was in a reformatory at 15, and later was in prison.

"And let me tell you something," the 20-year-old youth said, "we're not a gang. We're a group and we need your help."

About 200 persons — shop owners, residents, mothers and fathers — heard three South Side gang lords, known only as "Little Man," "Frank" and "George"—plead last night for understanding and compassion.

A spokesman for the audience which gathered because they want to stop juvenile gang activity in their middle-class, reasonably tidy neighborhood, said the youths came willingly, on the stipulation they not be identified.

They spoke from a dark corridor, a wooden screen separating the audience, which was silent except for applause after each youth spoke.

Another gang leader, "Frank," 19, said the gangs have too much idle time.

"We go out at night and scrape up enough change to get a little drunk because there's nothing to do," the boyish voice said.

"Lack of firmness when we were young got us into trouble —and now it's too late."

George, 18, stepped to the screen.

"What's our problem?" asked the deep voice. "Simple. We want to be wanted, to be loved. When we don't get it at home, we get it from the gang."

Members of the three white gangs silently stood around the perimeter of the racially mixed crowd.

"Why, they look just like normal boys," one woman murmured.

One gang member talked freely with a reporter.

"I was in my senior year of high school and got arrested," he said. "Then nobody would have anything to do with me. Now the Air Force has accepted me and I'm happy."

When asked his name, the dark-haired youth replied stonily, "What's a name?"

Then he held up a thin arm and displayed a pair of tattooes. One said "Mother." Below it was his name, "Hunk."

MARIN FILM FARE

An Unusual Western Is Coming To Rafael

By LES DARD

Here's a closeup look at what is current and coming to Marin County screens this weekend:

RAFAEL THEATER

John Ford, Hollywood's top director of westerns, has come up with a change of pace in "Two Rode Together," opening Sunday.

Starring Jimmy Stewart, Richard Widmark, Shirley Jones and Linda Cristal, the film explores a little-known facet of the western migration.

Stewart plays a self-styled Texas marshal approached by a wagon-load of settlers to ransom their wives and children captured years before by Comanches. Stewart at first refuses a search he considers futile, but accepts when offered $500 a head.

Unable because of treaties to do the job itself, the Army sends a cavalry officer, Widmark, along with Stewart. Miss Jones plays a frontier lass who blames herself for the capture of her brother by Comanches.

Stewart does manage to locate some of the captives, but his search is not a huge success. The women do not want to face the disgrace they would encounter back in civilization; the boys have matured to fierce warriors, Comanche in all but ancestry.

Jimmy does manage to discover Linda Cristal, once an Army officer's wife, now held captive by a Comanche chief.

This is not the usual shoot-'em-up; Stewart draws his gun only twice, uses it just once.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

A love between youth and maturity—and the presence of Ingrid Bergman — distinguish "Goodbye Again," coming Sunday.

It's a handsome, very French soap opera.

Ingrid plays a 40-year-old woman who fears she is losing her beauty (she's wrong!) and her love. The latter, Yves Montand, is an inveterate girl-chaser and cad.

Along comes Anthony Perkins, an American playboy — but just a boy—who finds Ingrid irresistible. Ingrid thinks she likes him, too, and for a while it's fun to watch. Of course, Yves doesn't let them carry on too long . . . but let me not tell you too much.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

A fine double bill, "Return to Peyton Place" and "All in a Night's Work," are on-screen at the Tiburon Playhouse.

The former is a sequel to the highly successful "Peyton Place," both from novels about a small New Hampshire community.

Carol Lynley plays Allison, a young beauty who writes a novel about her home town. Jeff Chandler is cast as her publisher. Eleanor Parker is Allison's mother and Mary Astor portrays the hateful leader of the town book burners.

"All in a Night's Work" concerns mayhem and mistaken identities, and stars Shirley MacLaine and Dean Martin.

NOVATO AND SEQUOIA

Both the Novato and the Sequoia open Sunday with "Parrish," which has been described as a sort of high-brow Tobacco Road.

It tells the story of a boy growing up, with some unusual obstacles along his path to maturity. The title role is played by TV's Troy Donahue.

The plot revolves closely around tobacco farming in Connecticut. If you didn't know they grew the weed that far north, you're in for some interesting enlightenment.

The picture brings Claudette Colbert back to the screen after a five-year absence, as pert and bright as ever. Also taking big parts are Dean Jagger, Karl Malden, Connie Stevens, Diane McBaine and Sharon Hugueny.

MOTOR MOVIES

Hollywood has surpassed itself on big names in "The Last Sunset," which opens Sunday at the Motor Movies. The spectacular Western stars Kirk Douglas, Rock Hudson, Joseph Cotten, Dorothy Malone and Carol Lynley.

Kirk plays a suave killer who recites poetry and even sings. Hudson plays the indomitable lawman on his trail, Joseph Cotten a whisky-soaked rancher with a beautiful wife, Miss Malone, and daughter, Miss Lynley.

Douglas and Hudson take time out from crime and punishment to help Cotten drive his cattle north.

There's plenty of true Western action, including stampedes, fist fights, Indian battles, dust storms and some pretty violent romance.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," starring Liz Taylor and Paul Newman, is on-screen at the Fairfax.

Based on Tennessee Williams' Pulitzer-prize play, the film also features Burl Ives as Big Daddy, a gusty old tyrant who confuses lavish gifts with fatherly affection. Newman plays his favorite son, a "30-year-old boy."

The supporting cast—Judith Anderson, Madeleine Sherwood and Jack Carson—is especially strong.

This is a movie for adults.

LARK THEATER

"Tunes of Glory," starring Alec Guinness and John Mills, is in its second week at the Lark.

Woven into a story of barracks life in a peacetime highland regiment is the tense personal struggle between a new commander and the man he is replacing.

Guinness plays an alcoholic colonel, well loved by his troops; Mills the spit-and-polish commander sent to take over Guinness' regiment.

GOOD FOOD IS MY LINE

By COL. MAX HOROWITZ

Is spaghetti a type of macaroni, or is macaroni a type of spaghetti? The connoisseur of Italian food will have no difficulty with this puzzler. Both macaroni and spaghetti are members of the "pasta" family. The term "pasta" applies to all types of food made from wheat flour, water and—for noodles—eggs. The reason for the many varieties of pasta (there are over 150 different types) is that pasta is always served with a sauce, and the sauce you use generally determines the kind of pasta. Generally speaking, there are four types of pasta: Rope or string pasta, tubular pasta, envelope pasta, ribbon pasta and fancy novelty pasta (for example, alphabet soup).

Why not try The Colonel's Ranch Wagon for a good night's entertainment, and an excellent dinner. Our price is very reasonable and we are conveniently located on Hwy. 101 just north of Richardson Bay Bridge.

Concert At Dominican 'Over Student Heads'

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Mezzo soprano Margot Blum's recital of 18th and 19th century lieder, presented last night as one of the Dominican College concert artist series, drew an audience consisting primarily of students.

They nearly filled Angelico Hall on the college campus in San Rafael. The few adults were presumably either devotees of the liedform or special admirers of the young San Francisco opera singer.

For this type of audience, an entire program of lieder—all sung in German, of course—seemed not the best choice. Though songs reflecting the German love of nature and romanticism might seem simple, they are actually one of the subtlest and most intimate art forms, requiring a very wide range of expressive power and emotional communication.

While Miss Blum has a lovely voice and much talent, as well as a most attractive stage presence, it was evident from remarks heard during intermission that the program was "over their heads."

Moreover, for connoisseurs of this musical form, a whole evening of lieder to be fully satisfying would require the supreme artistry and maturity of a Lotte Lehmann at the peak of her second career as a "liedersangerin" — which took even her some years to achieve.

Perhaps Miss Blum, having attended the Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara, where Lehmann teaches, has been influenced in her repertoire by the great artist.

Her choice of composers was impeccable — from Beethoven, a forerunner in the form, through Schubert, first of its great exponents, Schumann and Brahms to Mahler and Wolf.

Miss Blum's voice seemed best suited to the songs of dramatic mood, such as Schubert's "Erlkonig" and those in a light mood, like Wolf's "Ich Hab In Penna Einem Liebsten." Its quality was more pleasing in the lower and middle register than in the higher notes, which were not good at times, as in Schumann's "Ich Grolle Nicht."

She was most fortunate in having as her accompanist Adolph Baller, one of the fine pianists in the Bay Area.

Drunken Drivers Are Fined $263

Three drunken drivers drew identical sentences yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge David R. Baty ordered each to pay $263 fine, remain on probation for six months, and drive only for work during the next 90 days.

Sentenced were the following:

Albert George Buck, 40, of 2250 Paradise Drive, Belvedere, who was caught on Tiburon Boulevard on July 5; Herman Del Pino, 23, of 149 Sequoia Drive, San Anselmo, arrested at Hoag and Canal Streets in San Rafael on Aug. 25; Robert Beale Jr., 30, of San Francisco, caught on Highway 101 on July 4.

RADIATION TEST PASSED BY SHELTER

STOCKTON (AP)—A bomb shelter built for $1,500 by a Stockton school teacher and his wife was tested yesterday and passed.

Mrs. Ruth Radmore sat inside the 18-foot-long shelter and read test instruments while state and county Civil Defense officials directed a lethal dose of radiation at the seven-foot-thick, earth-covered roof.

She said afterward: "Inside for the first time I felt fear—a sample of what the actual situation would be like."

Ed Trau, San Joaquin County Civil Defense Coordinator, said the instruments showed no increase in radiation.

School Board Given Salary Study Report

A salary study report is to be presented to Reed School District trustees at their meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Reed School multi-purpose room.

Also on the agenda is a report from Pino and curriculum director George H. Gregg on teacher education in the new Scott-Forsman arithmetic program; approval of a district psychologist contract for two days a week with Nancy Sherry; approval of the student transportation insurance schedule, and the trustees agenda for the year.

McCarthy Again Blasts Governor

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Former director Robert I. McCarthy of the State Department of Motor Vehicles has left the door open for his possible candidacy for the governorship.

McCarthy said yesterday he didn't have any plans for the present but added, "I don't intend to abandon my interest in public office."

McCarthy renewed his attacks on Gov. Edmund G. Brown at a Hollywood Kiwanis meeting.

He said Brown had greeted a Department of Motor Vehicles budget cut with a "sullen, angry silence" and then imposed a gag rule on department heads.

He said Brown was upset when 386 positions were cut from the department in an economy move, but McCarthy said, no one was out of a job as a result.

"To this day Brown has not supported a single cut in the state government," McCarthy said. "The people of the state won't be saved one dime and not one single position, agency, department or board has been eliminated."

West Berlin Invaded By Jack Paar

BERLIN (UPI) — Television comedian Jack Parr said today the U.S. Army went to no special effort for his filming of a scene a few feet away from Communist police along Berlin's concrete curtain.

Paar said the 50 rifle-carrying American soldiers and two colonels who turned up for the filming yesterday "were just there."

"We just wanted to show show them to the folks back home," Paar explained. "We requested them more or less to show to their mothers back home."

It was the biggest showing the U.S. Army had yet made along the concrete wall that divides West and East Berlin, but the Army treated it as routine.

PERMIT FILMING

"There was an operational change over of units in progress," a spokesman for the U.S. Berlin command said. "In an effort to accommodate a representative of an information medium, Mr. Paar was permitted to do his filming at this time."

The filming for Paar's TV show took place at the Friedrichstrasse crossing point.

There were no unusual incidents as Paar and comedienne Peggy Cass went through their routine, although a Communist newsreel cameraman moved up to the line.

PEERS IN LENS

At one point, Paar walked to the border and peered into a Communist movie lens about 18 inches away.

Normally 10 or 12 American soldiers are stationed at the Friedrichstrasse crossing point, but yesterday heavily armed GIs were all over the place.

Apprised that there was some curiosity as to why so many troops were on hand just at the time he was filming, Paar said:

"I assume there are more boys than that here. I sure hope there are more than that here!"

GIs Feel Sorrow For East Berlin Guards

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP) — It's eerie at night along the wall between East and West Berlin, even though the tanks and armored cars are out of sight now.

The searchlights have been removed from the main crossing point, the corner of Friedrichstrasse and Zimmerstrasse. But the light from a big green neon sign makes the scene even more sinister.

It has been a spooky part of town ever since World War II. Once the center of Berlin's newspaper district, it was badly bombed and not much rebuilt. Vacant lots alternate with shabby apartment houses, small shops, a bar or two. Ruins and bomb sites make ugly black shapes at night.

You get some liveliness at the corner itself, at least on the West Berlin side. There are half a dozen American soldiers in battle dress, slightly bored but good humored and ready to chat.

"It used to be more fun when this thing first started," said a private from the Third Battle Group, Sixth Infantry. "One night we had quite a lot of chow here—chicken, it was. All they had was potato soup."

"They" meant the Communist East German police.

"They watched us through binoculars from the other side of Zimmerstrasse — about 40 feet away," the soldier added. "So we asked them over and gave them some."

The GI showed a happy-go-lucky attitude toward the whole situation. Whether he had actually shared his meal with the Communists or was just telling a tall story, he seemed a lot sorrier for the men on the other side than angry at them.

"Why," he said, "we've seen the same ones over there for 15 hours at a stretch."

The Americans have installed themselves fairly comfortably in a bombed out building a few yards from the border. It has a coutyard convenient for parking jeeps, and space for a few cots. Next door is an equally convenient bar, with a juke-box and a large supply of soft drinks.

Right after the Communists put up their wall, angry crowds gathered regularly on the West Berlin side. Now only a few curious West Berliners have been standing around these warm evenings.

"It's pretty dull," said the soldier.

Hub Drive-In Purchase Is Announced

Zip's Drive-In at 754 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo has been sold, it was disclosed today by George and Ruby Higgins of Strawberry, former owners.

The cafe has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wallace Shields of 14 Foothill Road, San Anselmo. They have already taken over the management and are changing the name to Ken's Drive-In.

Shields was formerly employed by Safeway Stores. He has been with the San Anselmo market for the past three years. The Shields were previously residents of Alberta, Canada.

Besides changing the name, Shields said that extensive remodeling by Clark Construction Co. of San Rafael will begin immediately. Planned is the construction of a "high lanai patio," he said, as well as new landscaping and revision of the interior quarters.

The Higgins's have owned the drive-in for two years. They have been in the restaurant business in Marin County for 12 years and were former owners of the Blue Fountain Cafe, 956 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Higgins said that her husband is presently with the Continental Real Estate and Investment Co., San Francisco, and has no plans for reentering the restaurant business.

There is a difference of about 260 degrees between the hottest and coldest natural temperatures in the world.

San Anselman 'Strongarmed,' Valuables, Gun Is Stolen

Richard Alvin Rudd of 12 Barber Avenue, San Anselmo, told police he was "strongarmed" by three men early yesterday in San Rafael and robbed of a revolver, gasoline credit card and about $90 in cash.

Rudd, who gave no occupation, said he left the Redwood Room tavern at 640 Fourth Street about 12:15 a.m. and was jumped by the trio on Tamalpais Avenue near Fourth as he was about to enter his parked car. Two of the men, whom he described as possibly juveniles, held his arms while the third, who wore a "beatnik-type beard," took his valuables, he said.

The gun, Rudd said, was the property of a friend in San Francisco and registered in the Marin County Sheriff's office. The gun was unloaded, he said.

Rudd made a formal report of the robbery yesterday at 1:30 p.m. after telephoning police when he arrived home about 1 a.m. yesterday. He told police he had been "drinking quite a bit" and had showed the gun to a stranger with whom he had a few drinks in the bar.

Low Bidder Announced For Highway 101 Job

LeeMac Paving Co. of Corte Madera was announced today as low bidder on an improvement project on Highway 101 north of Novato.

The State Division of Highways announced the Corte Madera firm, at $125,395.50, was lowest of five bidders on reconstructing shoulders and installing drainage facilities on a stretch of the highway between Petaluma Creek and a point 2.2 miles north of Atherton Avenue.

This isn't the regular route, folks . . . but I thought you'd enjoy seeing some FARDIN REALTY homes. 340 Sir Francis Drake Blvd., San Anselmo, GL 3-3360.

Summer Activities Prove Youth Work Worthwhile

Sometimes men and women who contribute funds to or work in youth activities wonder whether all the trouble they go to is worth while. Do the boys and girls get anything out of the programs which are set up for them?

We think of this because we have just happened to have come into possession of a report on what one Boy Scout troop did during two weeks at camp in the High Sierra this summer. We don't claim this is an outstanding record or a mediocre one. It is merely what Troop 11, Kentfield, did in two weeks.

Eighteen boys, their Scoutmaster, assistant Scoutmaster and two Dads, made the trip. They set up all their own camp, cooked their own meals, attended daily classes in merit badge skills, participated in camp athletic events, Scouting contests, nightly camp fires and leadership meetings.

In the second week they took a four-day 50-mile hike through some of the most rugged area of the Sierra, at altitudes ranging from 5,000 to 7,800 feet. They visited many of the gold mines and followed the paths of the pioneers over Donner Summit.

These Scouts, aged from 11 to 15 years, completed the trip with only a few blisters to mar their trek.

And did the 18 boys accomplish anything specific in their two week outing?

Between them they earned 34 merit badges and made progress on many more; 16 of the boys completed the one mile swim; one won two medals in marksmanship; half of them advanced in rank.

If this all sounds like a lot of work, we can assure you the boys, and their Dads too, had a lot of fun.

It is a report like this, viewed with the knowledge that there are a hundred or so Scouting units in Marin, each with a similar potential, that makes the work of adult volunteers seem worthwhile. Something actually is being done for the youth of Marin.

We congratulate the leaders of all youth groups in Marin, both boy and girl, for a summer's work well done, as witness Boy Scout Troop 11.

SMALL THINGS CAN CAUSE TROUBLE

Hungry microbes have been blamed by government scientists for causing crashes of jet planes.

The villains are bacteria and fungi that thrive on the kerosene-like jet fuel. Glutted by the abundance of the "food," they multiply and give rise to a bothersome sludge that clogs filters and strainers in the aircraft.

Although the incidence of accidents caused by the annoying bugs is not high, some small crashes have been attributed to their presence.

Experts have developed a microbe-killing fuel, but they insist that strict maintenance measures on the planes themselves provide the best answer.

Neglect of small but important factors can snap back at us at the most unexpected times. Be watchful at all times for small dangers, small injustices, that offend God and work to your own harm or that of other men.

Vigilance has a steep price but its opposite costs even more.

"Be instant in prayer, watching in it with thanksgiving."

Columnist Almost Gums Up Works Trying To Rhyme Up Adventures

NEW YORK (AP) — "Some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed," said the man as he walked along. The words were like whistles.

He shook his head despairingly. He thrust two fists full of fingers into his mouth and tugged. Then he again said in that half-loud voice people use when talking to themselves:

"Some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed. Some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed."

A few passers-by edged away from the stranger nervously. But not me. I fell into step beside him as he muttered once more in whistling monotone, "Some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed."

"You had 'em long?" I asked.

For a split second he looked at me in startled wonder, then replied: "Four days."

"They still hurt much?" I asked.

"Something awful."

"I've had mine almost four years," I volunteered.

"Yours still hurt much?" he inquired.

"Only when I eat too much corn on the cob," I told him.

"Corn on the cob!" he shuddered visibly. "I wouldn't dare try."

"You will," I assured him. "In time you will. You'll know you've got 'em whipped when you can sit down, eat corn on the cob, sirloin steak and a raw apple—and get up laughing."

He looked at me in hopeless envy.

"I'll never be able to do that," he sighed.

"You will," I assured him again. "It's all just a matter of time — and a fighting spirit."

"Can you say Mississippi?" he asked.

"Certainly," I replied. "Mississsippi, Mississippi, Mississippi."

He looked at me in hopeless envy and admiration.

"Now you try it," I urged, as we paused for a traffic light.

"I'm afraid to."

"Aw, go ahead."

He took a deep breath and then said more loudly than he intended, "Missss-issss-ssssippi!"

Three nearby women turned and glared at him indignantly.

"You see," he said. "They think I'm whistling at them. That letter "S" throws me every time. I'll never whip it."

"Of course you will," I said. "Why don't you practice first on South Dakota, work your way up to Kansas, then go on to Mississippi?"

"Thanks," he said. We shook hands and he left, muttering, "South Dakota, some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed."

Feeling rather proud of myself I said out loud and clear, "Mississippi!" Then something in my mouth slipped and the third time it came out whistling.

A MIDDLE-AGED lady passing by turned at the sound, smiled tentatively, and then as she brushed past me whispered in my ear, "Gramercy 7-8959—but don't call before 6 o'clock."

Yep, people with dentures sure do have strange adventures.

Suggested Names For SANE Split

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

One of the less tragic aspects of the recent bellicose Soviet announcement of the resumption of nuclear testing is the effect this news must have had upon that collection of worthies known, modestly, as the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, self-abbreviated to SANE.

This group has been somewhat active in Marin County, apparently, having established a booth at the Art and Garden Show. The Russian announcement, in fact, recalls to mind a spirited discussion I had at the Art and Garden Show with one of the guardians of that booth. A particularly choice point made by this young peacemaker was that Russia had consistently displayed a more reasonable policy toward nuclear disarmament than had the U. S.

In any event, the effect of the Soviet move upon the SANE group must be truly something to behold. Probably nothing like it has transpired since the traumatic experiences suffered by the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee and the many similar scurvy organizations of another era starting about Aug. 29, 1939, when the Nazi-Soviet Pact was announced.

It would seem, under the circumstances, reasonable to expect exciting developments on this front (if that word may be used), possibly some kind of schism. Knowing how carefully these people pay attention to labels, it occurred to me that I might be of some service in suggesting names for the offspring groups (assuming that neither would see fit to continue with the SANE label).

Why not, for example, one group called SAMIFUND (Students, Artists and Miscellaneous Intellectuals for Unilateral Nuclear Disarmament) and the other (the composition of which needs no explanation) CAPLENT (Committee Against Provocation Leading to Excusable Nuclear Testing).

Besides livening up the editorial and news pages (can't you already see a picture of several dozen SAMIFUNDS lying on a road in front of a missile base), this division and re-identification will serve another important function: it will aid the public in making a distinction, heretofore often difficult, between simple Communists and 100 per cent red-blooded American fools.

Meeting Of 25 Mentals Was Merely Powerless Gathering Of Despots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The meeting of the 25 so-called neutral nations — they call themselves nonaligned — was more than just nonsensational. It was a mixture of power, lack of power, and hypocrisy.

These 25 nations represented at the Belgrade meeting have a total population of 740 million people. So they do represent to some extent a broad section of world opinion when they denounce the West for colonialism or the remnants of it.

In this sense they have moral force.

BUT IT WAS hypocritical for them not to denounce Russia and Red China for the same offense. They spent no time complaining about the bondage in which Russia holds the European satellites or China the Tibetans.

Speaker after speaker expressed shock at the Russian decision to resume nuclear testing. But this was where their basic ineffectiveness as a group showed through — their fear of war between the United States and Russia and their inability to do anything about it except urge both sides not to start it.

They had a wretched time even trying to agree on a final resolution expressing the wishes of the 25. In short, at this time the 25 have a tough time agreeing among themselves.

THIS GROUP, anti-colonial, is all for self-determination of peoples. This is where the hypocrisy was at its worst when kings and princes sat shoulder to shoulder with revolutionaries.

In this group were leaders who, in dealing with their own people at home, used dictatorship or worse. For instance: Ethiopia, Ghana, Saudi Arabia, Yugoslavia.

In Yugoslavia, of course, it is the Communist party, under President Tito, which dominates and permits no opposition.

But the kingdoms of Ethiopia and Saudi Arabia are so far from permitting freedom or self-determination for their own people that they are truly medieval in their special brands of tyranny.

Ghana, under President Nkrumah, uses police-state methods to keep the people in line.

It was India's Prime Minister Nehru who acknowledged the inability of the nonaligned to do more than urge. He said "we cannot order about great countries, or even small ones. But let us use our moral strength rightly—"

THE BELGRADE meeting was all for disarmament. But if that is ever achieved it will hardly be the result of pressure from the 25 nations which got together this week.

It will be the result of a decision by the United States and Russia that if they don't disarm they'll wind up annihilating each other.

It is possible that in years to come the ranks of the 25 nonaligned nations will grow, that they'll have more in common than they do now, and that they will be able to replace some of their present selfishness.

But at this moment such a meeting is hardly more than a convenient forum for some individual leaders to sound a little nobler in theory than they are in practice.

Uncontrolled Monster, Fire, Eats Countryside, Crimsons Smoky Sky

A trip Saturday into the High Sierra brought us into the downwind path of many of the fires that plagued the state.

We headed east along Suisun Bay and ran into a wall of smoke from the fires in Sonoma and Napa counties. Los Angeles with its worst smog was never any grayer than the air there. The sun became a sickly yellow disc, casting faint shadows through the smoke. The acrid smoke ate into the linings of our noses and throats.

We went across the rich delta area and central valley into the Mother Lode country. Here too, fires were roaring out of control, fanned by the high wind.

Here the smoke became blacker as pitch-soaked brush and timber burned.

THE WIND WAS blowing such a gale that it was hard to stand against it. One shuddered to think how it would fan the flames. Or one admired the guts of the firemen who fought against the raging infernos with little or no hope of stopping them in the driving wind.

At night, higher in the mountains, we looked back at the three fires burning in the Mother Lode country below us. The fire made red lines on the horizon and colored the smoke-filled sky with a crimson shade. It was awful to see that uncontrolled monster eating away at the beautiful country we had just gone through.

THE NEXT DAY, although the wind died down, smoke came drifting up the valleys into the High Sierra. The beautiful scenes of the high country were lost to view within a matter of a couple of hours.

The dying wind made it possible for the wearied fire fighters to ring the blazes with fire trails. Normalcy gradually returned to fire-blackened Northern California.

What of the after effects?

The loss in a few hours of uncontrolled fires is staggering. There is the loss of grass for pasture and the loss of brush and protective covering on the top soil on the hills. There is a great loss of timber also.

How can anyone figure the loss of livestock and wild animals? It will be years before the devastated areas support the same amount of game. It takes years for hunting to return to normal after a fire.

WHAT OF THE human loss? Farmers and ranchers have spent entire lifetimes in clearing and developing farms. Maybe the house that burned was not as valuable as some in the cities, but it probably represented a lifetime of work and saving on the part of the owner. It was his home and probably contained most of his worldly possessions.

Personal possessions, too, can not be counted.

As all of the unpublished works of Joaquin Miller and other writers were lost in the big San Francisco fire, so too, may the creative works of many people have been lost in the weekend fires.

And human life. It too was snuffed out in the holocaust of the weekend. There is no way to ever count this loss.

COULD THE FIRES have been prevented? Perhaps, perhaps not. No one can tell. We do know from the fire scars on virgin timber that great fires swept the forest areas of the west in pre-historic times. We do know that lightning causes many fires. We do know that when dry winds hit and the conditions are right, fires are almost impossible to control.

We still wonder how many of the fires were caused by one man-made spark fanned by the wind?

Would stricter fire control laws and stiffer penalties for violations have stopped any of them? Would better weather forecasting (telling of the big wind coming) have stopped them?

We will never know — we can only guess.

JOSEPH ALSOP

Khrushchev Using Super-Hitlerism To Get His Way In Berlin, Elsewhere

WASHINGTON—If the Soviet decision to test a 100-megaton nuclear bomb has a strict military meaning, it most probably means that there is a weak point somewhere in the existing Soviet military machine.

The point is that bombs of 20 to 25-megatons, such as the United States has long possessed, are more than powerful enough to destroy any existing target, if delivered with reasonable accuracy.

The Soviets also have bombs of comparable power. But they may feel they need a much larger bomb, because they have no confidence in the accuracy of their rocket delivery system. A near-miss with 25 megatons would be a direct hit with 100 megatons.

OR THE SOVIETS may consider that they have not got enough long-range rockets, and they wish to remedy this deficiency with larger warheads. An allowance of three 25-megaton rockets per essential target, to insure target destruction while guarding against malfunction and misguidance, could perhaps be reduced to an allowance of two rockets per target with the new warhead.

There are other such possibilities. There is also the possibility that the Soviet general staff has taken note of the theory of nuclear deterrence which has been adopted by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara.

This theory calls for a deterrent which will be formidable primarily because it will be invulnerable, being dug into hardened rocket-silos too strong for the enemy to destroy. McNamara's plans were made on the basis of existing Soviet warheads. The new, 100-megaton Soviet warheads will make hash of these plans.

BUT IF THIS last and most probable Soviet explanation is the correct one, the timing of the Soviet decision is certainly not militarily motivated. After all, McNamara's hardened, invulnerable deterrent will not even begin to be ready for another two years. There is no need now, or in the near future, for bigger bombs to defeat McNamara's plans.

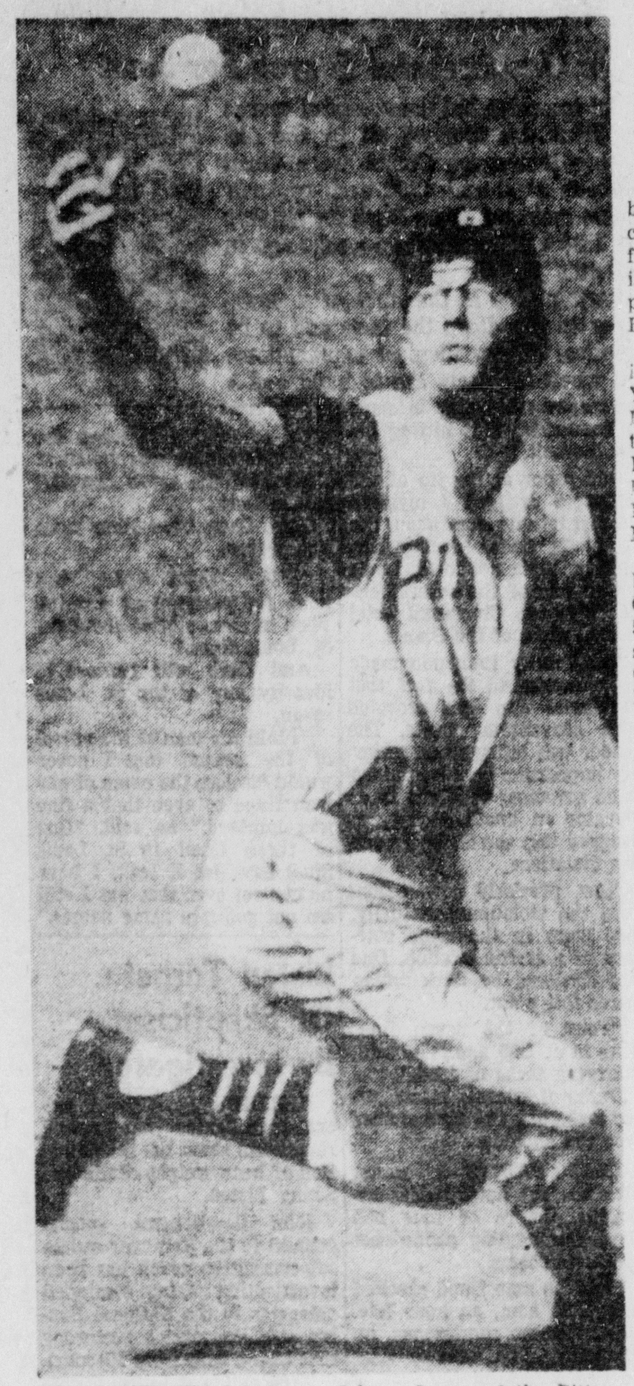
Thus there was nothing to prevent putting off the 100-megaton nuclear test for a few more months—thus forcing the U. S. to become the scapegoat for renewed nuclear testing.

On these assumptions, the Soviets have resumed nuclear testing at this time with a rational, long-range military aim, but with an immediate political aim as well. The political aim was to inspire terror. And they aimed to inspire terror because Khrushchev is using terror-tactics in the Berlin crisis.

No doubt Khrushchev would have preferred this country to test first, thus taking the blame from what is called world opinion. But if Khrushchev could not have it both ways, he could at least make the Nehrus of this world more gelatinous. And that is what he is doing.

THIS SHOULD NOT surprise anyone, either, for Khrushchev has been using Hitler tactics throughout the whole present phase of the Berlin crisis.

Maris Still Crashing Barriers; Within Five Runs Of Mark



IT'S A HIT—Third baseman Johnny Logan of the Pittsburgh Pirates ran into trouble with a hot grounder in the second inning of the game with the Cubs in Chicago yesterday. 'But Why Did You Bunt When 1st Up?

By ED WILKS
Associated Press

Roger Maris, an old hand at busting down barriers (he once crashed through a wooden fence chasing a fly ball), now is within five home runs of powering through to tie Babe Ruth's 34-year-old record of 60.

Maris hit No. 55, his second in two games, as the New York Yankees cracked the Cleveland Indians 7-3 last night. Only three other challengers to Ruth's supreme 60 in 1927 ever have been this close — Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg and Hack Wilson.

Foxx got to 58 with the old Philadelphia A's in 1932. Greenberg also finished with 58, for Detroit in 1938. Wilson stopped at 56 with the Chicago Cubs when he set the National League record in 1930.

A DRAG BUNT

Maris, who startled Cleveland defenses with a drag bunt that brought in a run his first at-bat last night, still in seven games ahead of the Babe's record pace. He has 14 games in which to break Ruth's mark within the limit of 154 team decisions set by Commissioner Ford Frick.

The second place Detroit Tigers lost their seventh in a row, 8-4 at Boston, in an afternoon game. Third place Baltimore edged within 3½ games of Detroit by whipping Washington 6-3 in the only other AL game scheduled.

Pittsburgh defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-5 in the lone NL game.

Maris, whose sole homer came in the third inning on a 1-0 pitch by losing left-hander Dick Stigman, shrugged off his earlier sacrifice of a swing for the bunt.

THAT'S HIS JOB

"I was up there to get the run in," he said. "That was my job."

Mantle's double put the Yanks back in the lead in a two-run sixth after the Indians had tied it in their sixth on Tito Francona's three-run homer off Ralph Terry. The Yankee right-hander, now 13-2, retired the first 13 men he faced and finished with a five-hitter.

The win reduced the Yanks' magic number to 14. Any combination of New York victories and Detroit losses totaling 14 gives the Yankees another pennant.

BLEW LEAD

The Tigers, a week ago just 1½ games behind New York, blew a 3-1 lead at Boston as their ace, Frank Lary (19-9) lost on his third try for victory No. 20. An error by Norm Cash and Frank Malzone's three-run homer put the Red Sox even in the third, and Chuck Schilling's single put it away in the sixth for Bill Monbouquette (12-12).

Baltimore came from behind with five runs in the second against rookie Carl Bouldin (0-1). Milt Papas 12-7 was the winner.

Pittsburgh beat the Cubs and Jim Brewer (1-7) with five runs in the third on five hits, a walk and four errors. Bobby Shantz (6-3) was the winner in relief.

SET BLEACHERS AFIRE

Stadium Riot Worst In Baseball History

TOKYO (AP) — Brooklyn was never like this — well, hardly ever.

Flaming newspapers . . . flying pop bottles . . . soaring cushions . . 260 cops . . fire in the bleachers

And all because an umpire reversed his decision

The trouble started last night at Korakuen Stadium after Umpire Shunosuke Shima first called a Kokutetsu Swallow runner out, and then reversed his decision when the Swallows protested that third baseman with the base runner.

FANS' IDOL

The Giants, fighting for the Central League lead, are the most popular club in Japan. Nagashima, a 24-year-old star considered by many as the best player ever to play Japanese professional baseball, is the idol of the fans.

The disputed run, which put the Swallows ahead 3-2 in the 11th inning, was too much for most of the 37,000 fans.

They threw empty bottles, cushions and flaming newspapers. A crowd stormed the Giant dugout and implored the players to protest by not playing any more.

SWALLOWS WIN

Two hours later, the Giants played out their half of the 11th and failed to score. The Swallows won 3-2 to split a doubleheader and leave the Giants ¼ game out of first. The Swallows are in third, three games back.

By the final out, it was past midnight, and the trains had stopped running. It was the first time a game had not been called before midnight. Games usually end at 10 p.m.

NO WAY HOME

Some 500 fans milled around the stadium, climbing on cars and demanding taxi money because they missed their trains home.

Six fans were arrested in what was considered the worst riot in the history of Japanese baseball.

Cincinnati Too Eager For Flag

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds are too eager for their own good to win the National League pennant, according to a man who ought to know—Manager Fred Hutchinson.

The Reds have been playing only .500 ball since regaining first place from the Los Angeles Dodgers on August 16. The Dodgers have been right at their heels ever since. The two teams are separated now by only one game.

Hutchinson says the trouble is "too many players are trying too hard."

"I suppose it's only natural, especially at this period of the pennant race," said the usually dour Hutchinson whose team is due to start a three-game series tonight against the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards and Reds each won one game of a two-night stand at Busch Stadium earlier this week.

"We have quite a few youngsters mixed up in a pennant scrap for the first time and they're bound to be pressing a little.

"And then, of course, most every game we've played recently has been a cliff-hanger. Well, most every one.

Part of the Red's troubles, Hutchinson admitted, are due to Frank Robinson's woeful batting slump. The right fielder had only five hits in 27 times at bat during the eight-game road trip that ended last night.

GIANTS-DODGERS

Revenge Sought Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Dodgers, riding a four-game winning streak and just one game from the top of the National League, invade San Francisco tonight for a big three game series.

The Giants with a five game losing streak—four of them to Los Angeles—have been fading. Everything points to an extension of the Dodger march, everything but the history of the fierce rivalry between the teams in which the unexpected has become commonplace.

Dodger ace Johnny Podres (18-4) is to pitch against young Mike McCormick (11-14) in a southpaw battle.

The Dodgers have won 10 of their 19 games with San Francisco. They will be playing with an eye toward the scoreboard, watching the progress of the Cincinnati Reds who still lead the league. The Giants, battling to keep from tumbling into the second division, have little else left to lose.

What may be worth something to them however, is the prospect of revenge for 1959, when the Dodgers came to San Francisco in September and knocked the Giants from the top of the league and went on to the world series championship.

Duke Snider, with three home runs in the past four games, has been furnishing most of the Los Angeles power. Catcher John Roseboro says "most of us aren't hitting as well as we're capable of doing, we're about ready to break out, I hope."

The Giants, after seven of them were fined for curfew violations, may be playing for their jobs. Manager Alvin Dark wouldn't say which seven got socked in the pay check, but seven players will have to be made available to the two new teams coming into the league next season.

The Giants are three games behind third place Milwaukee and just one game ahead of St. Louis.

Willie Mays Gives Lesson

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Willie Mays came up to the California State Fair yesterday and gave a lesson in how to hit a baseball.

His pupils were about 600 youngsters who crowded around him on a grass plaza. There were also some hecklers.

"Let him show you how, Willie," someone yelled as Mays taught an 11-year-old boy how to swing a bat.

The boy swung hard at a hitting tee and missed.

"That's what I've been doing all week," Mays said.

Willie said he was there to demonstrate hitting and "to sell the product."

The product was the hitting tee, manufactured by Mays' manager.

"It may sound silly for kids to swing at it, but I guess it's good for timing," Willie said.

Softball Clubs Tally 29 Times In Game

Twenty-nine runs poured across home plate in last night's San Rafael Recreation Department "B" League softball game at Albert Park, with Marvel-Dolphin finally defeating the Post Office team 19-10.

In "A" League competition Terra Linda edged out powerful Presidio 7-6 in a major upset. Presidio had led the loop at the end of first round play.

Roger Says His Chances The Same

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris of the Now York Yankees hit his 55th home run of the season last night. Afterwards he said:

"My chances of beating Babe Ruth's record are the same as they were before. I don't know whether I can do it."

Teammate Mickey Mantle failed to connect, although he drove in the tie-breaking run with a double, and slipped two games behind Ruth's pace. Mantle has 51 home runs.

Mill Valley Manager, Coach Tilt Tomorrow

The fifth annual Mill Valley Little League managers-coaches baseball game is scheduled for tomorrow on the Optimist Baseeball Diamond at 3 p.m.

This brings down the curtain on Little League baseball in Mill Valley. It will give the boys a chance to see their National and American League instructors play baseball, and demonstrate what they taught the boys this past season.

The coach-manager series began in 1957, with the National League coming away with the opening victory, 4-0. The following season the National loop won their second straight, this time by a 7-1 count. For the past two seasons the American League has won the games, 16-4 in 1959, and 15-2 last year.

Manager of the National League is "Doc" Doyle, and Len Oliveira is pilot of the American loop.

The National League roster includes Stan Woodward, Dick Powers, Gene Wegscheider, Ed Reynolds, Harley Carpenter, Len Fleischman, Art Langoff, Frank Brunini, Russ Smith, Lauren Buchholz, Art Beckham, Al Mainini, Logan McFadden, Ivan Hayes, Red Taylor, Bill Frazier, Bob Stevens, Truman Lee, Babe Campagna, Joe Ancic, Larry Brink, Gil Thompson, Frank McCawley, George Wickham, Lee Creighton and manager Doyle.

Favor Laver For Net Title

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. —Rod Laver, the overwhelming choice to win the National Tennis championship, admitted today he had talked greenbacks with professional czar Jack Kramer.

"But," said the Australian left-hander, "my plans are indefinite after the Davis Cup challenge round. I'll definitely remain an amateur until then.

"After that, I don't know. I wouldn't want to say one thing and mean another."

A BLACK MARK

This, indeed, has been Laver's year. He has only one black mark against him. That is a loss to cupmate Roy Emerson in the final of the Australian championships. But he partially atoned for that by winning Wimbledon.

Laver blasted his way into the quarter-final round Thursday with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 decision over Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif. His opponent today is Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., who downed John Sharpe of Edinburg, Tex., 7-9, 6-3, 6-2, 8-6.

Rafael Osuna, 22, Mexican Davis cupper, also pulled into the quarters by upsetting Bob Mark of Australia, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6.

DARKNESS FELL

Britain's Mike Sangster was leading Mexican champion Antonio Palafax, 21-19, 8-7 when darkness fell over the West Side Tennis Club.

So here is how the quarter-final round shapes up with four Americans and four foreigners still in it:

Laver vs. Dell.

Jon Davis, of Santa Monica, Calif., vs. Sangster-Palafox winner.

Whitney Reed, San Francisco, vs. Osuna.

Ron Holmberg, Brooklyn, vs. Emerson.

WOMEN'S DIVISION

In the women's division, defending champion Darlene Hard, seeded No. 1, gained the semifinal with a 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Yola Ramirez of Mexico. Margaret Smith of Australia, seeded No. 5, eliminated Christine Truman of Britain, 8-10, 6-4, 6-3 in another match that advanced the winner to the semifinals.

The other two semifinalists will be decided when second-seeded Angela Mortimer of Britain tangles with sixth-ranked Leslie Turner of Australia and seventh-seeded Ann Haydon of Australia meets unseeded Jan Lehane of Australia.

OFFICIAL CONTRADICTION

Big Yacht Race To Be Held This Weekend

By AL MATSON

In contradiction to the official season's program, as printed in the yachting year book, the St. Francis Yacht Club's Championship Regatta will be held tomorrow and Sunday and not on Sept. 23-24 as indicated.

After the later dates for the regatta had been approved by the Yacht Racing Assn., club officers discovered, to their embarrassment, that their annual Tinsley Island cruise was scheduled for the same week end. A new date was finally allocated but not until after the year books were printed.

Tomorrow the one design classes will furnish the excitement and the handicap divisions will follow through on Sunday. All starts and finishes will be between the white and orange-striped buoys off the St. Francis Yacht Club.

YANKEE CLASS

First act on tomorrow's bill will be the Yankee class at 11 a.m., to be followed at five-minute intervals by Junior Clipper-T.I., PIC-210, Fleur Bleue-Acorn, Bear, Folkboat, Maya-Sea Horse, Carinata-Pacific Clipper, Rhodes 33, Windward-Buccaneer, I.C., and Knarr Class at 11:55 a.m.

There will then be a coffee break until 1:10 p.m. with the Farallone start and, in succession, Bird, Spaulding 33, Hurricane and the Golden Gate fleet tail-ending the parade at 1:30 p.m.

Sunday's program reveals that the big blue water yachts in cruising club "A" will be sent on their way first at 11 a.m. on a 23-mile course with channel buoy No. 3, beyond the gate the windward mark. Divisions "B," "C," "D," 17, 14, 15, 9, 10 and 11 will follow in that order.

The local fleet in "A" division will have some outside competition among the "Furriners" now in port are E. L. Doheny's Kamalii, Los Angeles, and Harold Jones' Spirit from Seattle, both are expected to race.

PROTEST SUSTAINED

Incidentally, Baruna's protest against Orient in the Sausalito Yacht Club's Regatta on Aug. 27 was sustained by that club's race committee at a special hearing on Sept. 5.

The ruling tightens the race for seasons honors considerably between the three contenders—bolero, Orient and Baruna. With but two races to go, Bolero has a two and one-half point bulge over Orient and the latter is two points up on Baruna. A great battle right down to the wire.

Presumably, all participants in tomorrow's class races got their notices of correction in courses "A" and "B." If not, heed this: Correct course "A": A-S, 16-S, 3-S, 16-P, A-P. Course "B": A-S, 16-S, A-S, DBG "A"-S, 7-P, 16-P, A-P.

ANNUAL TREK

This is a week end wherein the small boaters hit the macadam for over 100 miles to get in about five miles racing. It is the annual trek down to the Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club for their regatta on Monterey Bay.

All classes in the four divisions are invited for two races on Sunday, 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. But to make the long haul a bit more attractive, a tune-up race has been scheduled for 2:30 p.m. on Saturday and trophies to the winners will be awarded that evening at a party at the donor's clubhouse.

Sonny Liston's Trial Set For Sept. 28

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Heavyweight boxer Charles Sonny Liston faces trial Sept. 28 on charges of turning off his car lights to avoid arrest after an incident in Fairmount Park.

Joseph Scanlon, commissioner of jury trials set the trial date Wednesday after Liston pleaded innocent.

Liston and a companion were arrested in the park last June 12 after allegedly forcing a woman motorist to halt her car.

Possible Spat Of Coaches Fizzles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There may have been a disagreement between Coaches Dick Barnes of UCLA and Marv Levy of California over a highly sought Santa Monica tackle, but nothing is likely to come of it.

The tackle in question, Tebb Kusserow, is enrolled in UCLA. Dick Miller, football writer of the Santa Monica Evening Outlook, says Levy told him he had been assured by Kusserow that he would enroll at California and "I even went down there the day before our practice opened and everything was fine. The next day I got a letter saying he was going to enroll at UCLA."

Barnes said Thursday: "There are normal channels of communication between the universities and I have received no complaint in regard to this matter."

UCLA spokesmen said there was no bitter argument between Barnes and Levy.

One of them said: "We have been watching the progress of Kusserow for two years and quite naturally wanted him to enroll at UCLA. He was a freshman prospect, and that's all there is to it."

Brawn, Brains To Show This Fall At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—First returns from Stanford's nationwide football recruiting program for brawn with brains show up this fall.

Nine sophomores are from out of state with one, Frank Dubofsky, a 218-pound guard from Washington, D.C., listed as a starter. The widespread recruiting went into effect to find outstanding athletes who can meet Stanford's high scholastic requirements.

"This is the best group of sophomores since I've been here," says Coach Jack Curtice, starting his fourth season at Stanford.

The Indians, who lost all 10 of their games last year, have only 18 returning veterans.

Stanford opens the season Sept. 23 against Tulane here.

San Francisco Hockey Seals Sign Five Men

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Seals ice hockey team has signed five players for the coming Western Hockey League season.

The players are defenseman John Mark Prichard, center Dutch Reibel, wing Barney Krake, defenseman Tom Thurlby and Wing Murray McDonald.

Marin Winners

Kentfield residents George T. Gerhardt of 500 Goodhill Road, and Tom Perrin of 905 Drake Boulevard, were among the 50 prize winners in a recent camera contest sponsored by the San Francisco Giants and Bear Photo Service. it was disclosed today.

Basketball Tickets

Pro Exhibition Games Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A crowd of 40,000 is expected to watch Coaches Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers and George Halas of the Chicago Bears match wits tonight in Chicago's Soldier Field in an effort to give their respective teams a winning National Football League exhibition season.

The Steelers-Bears clash is the 16th annual Armed Forces Benefit game and will be the closing exhibition contest for both clubs.

Pittsburgh and Chicago enter tonight's tilt with 2-2 NFL records and the memory of a 21-21 deadlock in the same Armed Forces scrap last year.

No other games are on the schedule tonight, but all the remaining 14 clubs wind up their exhibition campaigns either tomorrow night or Sunday. The regular season begins Sept. 17.

In tomorrow's games, Washington plays Green Bay at Columbus, Ga.; Philadelphia meets St. Louis at Hershey, Pa.; San Francisco plays Dallas at Sacramento, Calif.; and Detroit is at Cleveland.

Sunday, Los Angeles plays the Minnesota Vikings at St. Paul-Minneapolis; and New York mets Baltimore at the Yale Bowl in New Haven.

The American Football League shoves off on its second season tomorrow and Sunday with the repeat of an exhibition game headlining the opening schedule.

Dallas will be out for quick revenge because the Texans clash with San Diego in a televised game in the Dallas Cotton Bowl Sunday afternoon. San Diego beat the Texans in last Sunday's exhibition 31-10.

Houston, the defending champion, gets the league race started Friday night in a clash with Oakland. New York and Boston tangle at Boston.

Battling Torres Suffers Cut, But Inflicts K.O.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Battling Torres of Mexico knocked out Ray Riojas of Orange last night in the third round of their scheduled 10-rounder.

Torres weighed 141, Riojas 137½.

Torres suffered a cut eyebrow in the second round and was forced into a slugfest with Riojas, who was landing most of the blows. Torres let Riojas carry the fight to him, was content to assimilate punishment in order to get in long left hooks that soon slowed down his adversary.

Riojas began hooking to the body in the third. That gave Torres the room he needed and one potent left hook dropped Riojas against the ropes. He climbed back up at the count of seven, but a long left caught him and down he went for the second time. He took a count of six in a sitting position. When he got up, a left and right combination finished him off at 2:28.

Bronc Event Winner

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Fred Wilson of Casper, Wyo., won the saddle bronc event last night at the California State Fair Rodeo.

Brodie To Start Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Veteran John Brodie will start at the quarterback slot tomorrow night when the San Francisco 49ers clash with the Dallas Cowboys at Sacramento.

The 49ers will be seeking their third consecutive pre-season victory, the last exhibition game before the National Football League season opens Sept. 17.

Coach Red Hickey said Thursday he plans to give Bill Kilmer and Bobby Waters a chance for some quarterback action also.

Meanwhile in Minneapolis, the Los Angeles Rams have made several lineup changes for their Sunday game against Norm Van Brocklin's Minnesota Vikings.

Joe Scibelli, 250-pound right guard, replaces Charley Bradshaw, and rookie David Jones, 240-pound left tackle, supplant Jim Boeke. Both operate with the offensive unit.

In the defense lineup, Bob Long starts at right linebacker in place of Bill Jobko; rookie El Kimbrough of Northwestern, will be at Linden Crow's regular spot at right corner, and Crow moves over for Clenton Thomas at safety.

Jobko is hampered by a jammed right wrist and will see little, if any action. Thomas is suffering from a bruised shoulder and will be kept out of the game, Coach Bob Waterfield said.

Minnesota has lost its four exhibition games and the Rams are a substantial favorite to make it five.

The game will be televised over Channel 2, starting at 12:30 p.m.

Five Champs Enter Big Road Race

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (AP)—The Road America 500, one of the nation's top road races, will have five national champions in the field for the 1961 edition Sunday.

The 500-mile grind is the finale event of a weekend of sports car racing on the winding, four-mile Road America paved course. The program opens tomorrow with six races.

In just five years the 500-miler has become a major sports car event.

The speed record of 82.2 m.p.h. was posted in 1959 by Walt Hansgen of Westfield, N.J., and Eddie Crawford of Northfield, Ill.

Last year's race was won by Luke Stear of Zionville, Ind., and Dave Cousey of Carmel, Ind., in a Birdcage Maserati.

Cousey and Hansgen the only former champions sure to race this year. Hansgen will be driving with one of the five national champions, Augie Pabst of Milwaukee, the B-modified class kingpin.

The other champions are Roger Penske of Gladwyn, Pa.; Oliver Schmidt, Winnetka, Ill.; and Duncan Black of Parkton, Md.

Stanford To Hike Athletic Budget

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford University President J. E. Wallace Sterling declared yesterday that athletics were at Stanford to stay—so much so that the school will double its athletic budget in 10 years.

Sterling told a group of newsmen that "there'll be many changes in athletics in the next 20 years, just as there were in the last 20." But de-emphasis, he said, will not be one of them.

Richards: 'Tough Job'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Paul Richards believes the job of developing new teams in an expanded National League will be tougher than in the American League.

The new general manager of the National League Houston Colts said today the 1961 expansion by the American gave new clubs in Washington and Los Angeles a head start an acquiring young players.

"That means we plan to force-feed our young players," he said. "The minute they show signs of making the major leagues they will be given a chance. The answer to Houston's problems is in young players."

Houston and the New York Mets move into the National League next year.

Richards yesterday signed a three-year Colt contract at a reported $60,000 a year.

Newspaper Has Hit Below The Belt In Unsuccessful Search For Smut

HANLEY

An intensive but unsuccessful search for smut was touched off by the disclosure that seven Giants were fined between $100 and $200 each by their rookie manager Alvin Dark for missing the 1:30 a.m. curfew two weeks ago in St. Louis

Certainly, it is the duty of a newspaper to run down the facts and to be skeptical of any illogical explanations. But when the facts are in hand and a newspaper stilld rags in smut by innuendo, it is hitting below the belt.

One paper at the tip of the peninsula dragged a mysterious girl into its story about the St. Louis fines, placing her, oddly enough, not in St. Louis but in one of the several elevators in the Cincinnati hotel headquarters of the Giants.

The smutty innuendo made no reference to the fact that the hotel also was crowded with convention guests. The reader was left with an unsavory impression because the isolated instances of a girl in an elevator in another city was dragged into the St. Louis curfew violations.

Now, precisely how serious were the violations? Actually, they were in the same category as a traffic citation. One fact disclosed by Dark underscores this point.

"Four of the seven fined came in at 1:55 a.m.," he said, "carrying sacks of food."

Dark, of course, meant paper sacks, not the kind carried over the shoulder.

THAT PAINTS a rather harmless but nevertheless humorous picture of four ball players smuggling sandwiches into their rooms.

The fifth man fined checked in at 2:30 a.m., an hour late He carried no sandwiches, incidentally. The precise time the two others hit the sack is not known.

"They might have gotten in at 2 a.m. or not at all," said Dark, "because we (Dark and his coaches) made our last room check at 1:55 a.m. The fellow who checked in at 2:30 was tipped by his roommate that he better telephone us that he was back. He did."

DARK IS A STRICT disciplinarian but does not try to impose his own standards on any member of his team. However, when it comes to curfew, particularly before a day game as was the case in St. Louis, he expects every member of penalty of fine.

"I have never refused any player permission to stay out after curfew this year except in one instance," Dark said. "That was before a day game. And as for the curfew itself—why, in most instances I let the players themselves set it

Who set the curfew the night of August 25 when the St. Louis curfew was violated?

"One of the seven caught," smiled Dark.

Have there been other fines this season.

"YES," DARK SAID, "but none for partying as was implied in some stories about the St. Louis fines."

And Dark still refused to identify any of the St. Louis seven.

"I told my men at the outset of the season that I never would disclose the name of any man fined or even that a fine was imposed," he said. "One of those fined in St. Louis must have let it leak. I have no control over that but I still am not going to name names."

Liston Target Of Skepticism By Investigator

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI)—A federal investigator has voiced skepticism about the rehabilitation of heavyweight challenger Sonny Liston.

John G. Bonomi, special counsel to the Kefauver senate sub-committee which has been investigating boxing, reminded delegates to the National Boxing assn. convention yesterday that Liston hails from Missouri.

"And as far as Liston is concerned, I'm from Missouri, too," Bonomi declared. "I'll have to be shown before I take any stock in his rehabilitation. He has a long record."

Greedy Hunters

VISALIA (UPI)—An over-the-limit dove hunting complaint was on file today in Visalia Justice Court against Fred Haney and two others. Game Warden James Ellis charged Haney, business manager of the Los Angeles Angels and former Milwaukee Braves manager, and his companions bagged 138 doves in the Visalia area Monday—108 over the limit.

PGA champion Jerry Barber, 45, has won only seven golf tournaments in the last 9 years. He started as a winner in 1953, taking the Azalea Open. He repeated in the Wilmington, N. C., event this year.

'Cats Want Out Of Cellar; Transfers Brighten Chances

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of articles discussing the pre-season prospects of the high school football teams in Marin.)

By DON KEOWN

The Marin Catholic High School Wildcats are going to try to claw their way out of the Marin County Athletic League football cellar into which they were dumped last fall. And head coach Harry Moore thinks they can make it.

Moore admits, however, that his Wildcats face the 1961 campaign painfully shy on experience and light in the weight department. But he sees his charges engaged in a free-for-all with Redwood and Drake for fourth spot in the league standings.

"If our line jells, we will knock off some of the big boys," he says.

Moore has only five returning varsity lettermen from last year's last-place but scrappy team. And one of those is currently sidelined with an injury that is expected to keep him out of action until some time in October.

Back and eager for another campaign are John Jones, a strong quarterback; Jim Calway, a real 185-pound muscleman at the tackle slot; Frank Ubhaus, a halfback long on both speed and desire; and Paul Kruger, the lone experienced end.

The injured vet is halfback Mike O'Connell.

Brightening the landscape considerably on the Marin Catholic practice field are a couple of seasoned transfers. John Carney is a steamroller-type fullback from Colorado, while halfback John Drews had varsity experience in Los Angeles before coming here.

A third transfer, Jim Pansini, is inexperienced, but may help close a gaping hole at the center post.

To fill out the remainder of the team Moore and his aides, Doug Damaschino and Al Scott, will have to look largely to boys up from last year's jayvees.

Backfield prospects at this stage appear bright. The line, however, is another matter. And that is why Moore says that the Wildcats' fate may well depend upon the ability of some of the less experienced boys to come through and give standout tackle Calway a helping hand at manning the defenses.

A position-by-position breakdown of the Wildcat hopefuls runs something like this:

Center—A position that will probably have to be filled by transfers of linemen from other spots. Present top contenders are Pansini, the 180-pound senior transfer, and Stan McGinnis, a 175-pound junior up from the jayvees.

Guard—Some good potential here, topped by Joe Wiseman, a 165-pound senior who is strong for his size, and, in Moore's words, "really moves across that line." Other good possibilities are Hank Ryan, 182-pound junior, a baseball first baseman who looks like a comer next year if not this fall; Bud Almada, only 135 pounds and a sophomore, but regarded as "the toughest boy on the squad" and very probably a first unit linebacker; Lou Wayers, 168-pound senior without experience but with a lot of hustle, and John Hassett, 155-pound junior who should see a lot of action on the defense. Junior Charles Clay and senior Dan Reed tip the scales at only 143 and 144 pounds, respectively but command attention.

Tackles—After Calway, the Wildcats' best hope for all-league honors this fall, the talent falls off sharply. Ned Dillon, senior up from the jayvees, is light at 158 pounds but fast. Mike Hebel, senior, weighs 172, but may wind up at defensive end. Joe Hebel, a 180-pounder, may solve some of Moore's tackle worries if a bad knee holds out. Jim Moran, 182, and Joe Crotty, 168, both juniors, are also in the running. Moore says of Calway: "He's as rough as Tony Guisti, and better on offensive blocking." High praise.

Ends — Kruger, a 163-pound senior who lacks speed but blocks solidly, is the only experienced wingman on the Wildcat squad. Don Zimmerman, 165, also a senior, has speed, but he is a converted tackle without seasoning at end. On the other hand, Paul Brady, 162, senior, has shown some good hands as a pass receiver, but is weak on blocking. Ed Ghiringhelli, 148, junior, is likely to see action as a defensive end, and Dennis Gunther and Chuck Hardeman are a couple of juniors also in the running.

Quarterback — If Calway doesn't give Marin Catholic an all-leaguer, then quarterback Jones is likely to do the trick. Last fall he was a strong runner from the Wildcat split T. This autumn Moore expects him to demonstrate improved passing to go along with his ability to scamper. Backing up the 174-pound senior are three good understudy prospects—Jim Palleschi, 155-pound senior up from the jayvees and slated for safety duty; Gerry Denman, 149, junior, also a jayvee product and a defensive standout who can also perform well offensively, and Lad Wilsey, 155, junior, who has already demonstrated his ability to both run and to throw the football a country mile.

Halfback—One of the strongest positions on the team. Ubhaus, 155, senior, should be one of the league's best running backs. Wally Lourdeaux, 165, junior, has taken over the right half position with authority, running like a fullback. Sophomore Rick Bacich, 140, is a frontrunner on the defense who also has good moves on the offense. Transfer Drews, 160, a junior speedster, needs experience as does Don Hemovich, 140, another junior. Mike Nance, 135, junior, is another jayvee graduate who can move fast when handed the ball.

Fullback — Carney's appearance on the scene came as a real boon at a spot where the Wildcats were very weak. The six-foot two-inch, 190-pound senior runs like a tank and should pick up a lot of yardage. Moore may have to make transfers from other positions, however, to back him up with adequate reserves.

Moore expects to field a starting eleven that will average about 168 pounds per man and which will definitely be on the "green" side. But it will be an eleven which should improve steadily as it acquires experience during the season's grind.

If the young line can develop sufficiently fast to provide quarterback Jones with needed protection, if fullback Carney proves as good in actual competition as he has looked on the practice field, if tackle Calway takes over from where he left off last season as one of the league's most destructive lineman, if the jayvee graduates keep their poise under varsity fire, then Moore feels his "green mountain boys" may well climb into that fourth place spot this fall. After all, no less than four of last season's losses were by less than seven points.

Moore picks San Rafael as the 1961 league champion, followed closely by Novato—and with a good chance of tying the Bulldogs for the title. Tamalpais is his choice for third.

The Wildcats will open their 1961 campaign the afternoon of Sept. 23 with a non-league tilt against Analy High at 2 p.m. on the College of Marin football field at Kentfield. Last year Analy handed the Marin Catholic team a 21-7 lacing, and word from there is that it will bring a big line averaging 200 pounds per man to Marin for the '61 opener.

Other Marin Catholic games before league warfare begins include an away-from-home contest with Palma of Salinas (where Moore formerly coached) on Sept. 30, and a tilt at Cloverdale on Oct. 6. Both will be night games. Then the Wildcats open their conference slate against San Rafael's Bulldogs Oct. 13, play Drake Oct. 21 and Tamalpais Oct. 27 at night. The season ends with a Nov. 4 tilt at Novato and a Nov. 11 game with Redwood in the afternoons.

All Levy Can Do Is Smile At Schedule

BERKELEY (UPI)—What can you do when you have to face the likes of Texas, Iowa, Missouri, Washington, Southern California, Penn State, UCLA, Air Force, Kansas and Stanford on successive week-ends?

Smile, brother, smile!

That's what Coach Marv Levy is doing in his sophomore year as head master of California's Golden Bears.

Levy is putting up a fine front for a guy who lost eight of his 10 games last year—on a schedule not as tough as this one. Additionally, he lost a goodly portion of his 1960 line.

"These boys believe in themselves," says Levy. "They are looking forward to playing this tough schedule. And we believe in them."

UNBALANCED LINE

Levy will use the unbalanced line with a split end formation this year and thinks maybe his offense will pick up a bit. It scored only 12 touchdowns all last year.

What makes the coach think the boys will work out well is the fact that he has a good backfield and some young ends who may turn into dandy pass catchers.

The passer will be big Randy Gold, a 6-3, 200-pound junior quarterback who also can run a bit. The receiving targets may be Dave Muga and Bill Turner, both with little or no experience.

FINE POTENTIAL

"But they have fine potential," says Levy. "They could develop."

Also in the backfield and available for pass catching are such good receivers as Capt. Jim Burress, Jerry Scattini, John Mason (a breakaway back) and fullback George Pierovich.

Roger Stull, who does the punting, will be the anchor man in the line from his guard position. Others who may draw starting assignments inlude guard John Erby; tackles Andy Segale, a leterman who sat out last year, and Lauren Bock, a man with limited experience; and center Dave Favro, a junior who can boast of having played two and one-half minutes in 1960.

Levy feels that the interior line of the Golden Bears will be a bit on the weak side. But he thinks the backfield will be solid and the ends may come along fast enough to hold their own.

The coach plans to use the two-unit system. This means that quarterback Larry Balliett, who played behind Gold last season, will see a lot of action.

FIRST UNIT STRONGEST

"The first unit looks a lot stronger than the second right now," says Levy. "But we plan to use it about eight minutes each quarter, with the second group playing about seven minutes."

It is Levy's contention that, to have the No. 1 group fresh in the last quarter, it should have a lot of rest.

He thinks anything above a 50-50 season would be considered a success—especially in view of last year's showing. But he claims winning on this schedule is not at all impossible.

He may be whistling in the dark—but he sounds convincing.

San Rafael Softball Contest Reaches End Of First Round

The San Rafael Recreation Softball leagues have reached the end of the first round of play with Presidio leading the Class A league and Rancho Nicasio, Class B.

Leading batters in the A League are Art Donati of Sohner with .750; Dave Haight of Presidio, with .500, Ed Schultz of Sohner, .500, and Roy Ruebal of Presidio, .500.

The big batters of the B League are, Rex Benson of Rancho Nicasio, .750; Mike Curry of Dolphin of Marin, .667; Joe Rodota of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, .667, and Jon Visman of the Post Office, .600.

A League standings are Presidio (3-0); Sohner (2-0); Dumont (2-2); Dugout-Cain Tire (1-3); and Terra Linda Merchants (0-3).

B League standings are Rancho Nicasio (4-0); Post Office (3-1); Junior Chamber of Commerce (2-2); Fairchild (2-2), and Dolphin of Marin (0-4).

The Sohner team whipped the Dugout-Cain five runs to three in the A League's final game of the round. The Junior Chamber and Fairchild contest was a double forfeit with neither team showing up.

Jerry Barber, 45-year-old PGA golf champion, first went on the golf tour at the age of 33. He's only 5-foot-5 and 137 pounds.

Marin Medic Society Nominations Announced

Dr. C. Ray Leininger, San Rafael pediatrician, was nominated last night for president-elect of the Marin County Medical Society. If elected, he will become president in 1963.

The nominating committee, headed by past president Dr. Dallas Wagner, presented a slate of nominees to the society at its first meeting of the fall in the Meadow Club, Fairfax.

Further nominations can be made from the floor at next month's meeting, followed by secret balloting by mail and announcement of the winners at the November meeting. New officers take over in January.

Next year's president will be Dr. Joseph J. Arons, this year's president-elect, who automatically steps into the presidency.

Dr. Leininger, who resides at 324 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, is a native of Rexburg, Ida., who received his M.D. degree from Northwestern University and special training in pediatrics at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. He has served as a director of the Marin Medical Society and as an alternate delegate to the California Medical Assn. House of Delegates.

Other nominations last night were:

Secretary: Dr. Calvin Plumhof of Kentfield (for a third term).

Directors, for two-year term, three to be elected: Drs. Arthur R. Ablin of San Rafael, Alexander H. Beaton of Ross, William A. Galeno of San Rafael, Joseph P. Gutstadt of Terra Linda, G. William Magladry of San Rafael and John C. Siemens of Kentfield.

Delegates to the California Medical Association, three-year term, two to be elected: Drs. Roger W. Hedin of San Anselmo and Robert F. Schell of San Rafael.

Alternate delegates, three-year term, elect two: Drs. Russell W. Bernhard of San Rafael, Sam Hanzel of Novato, J. Lyman Hurlbut of Larkspur, and Robert L. Mills of Ross.

The society heard a report and request for cooperation from the United Bay Area Crusade. Byron Leydecker, Marin United Crusade chairman, was the speaker.

Father Who Accused CHP Put In Jail

SAN LEANDRO (UPI)—A Los Angeles man who charged that two California Highway Patrolmen refused to help save the life of his baby was jailed here yesterday on two traffic warrants, according to police.

"We didn't know he was the same man," said Police Capt. Whitney Rosaaen. "He told us about it."

He said Charles DeVaney, 26, was arrested on warrants issued in recent weeks in San Leandro and Richmond, charging him with driving with a suspended license.

DeVaney said he was in San Leandro to visit his former employers. He posted $635 bail and was released to appear in San Leandro Municipal Court on Sept. 20 and in Richmond's court Sept. 21.

DeVaney's 19-month-old son died Sunday in Southern California after two highway patrolmen admittedly refused to help him reach a hospital because the child didn't "appear to be dying." The infant had swallowed skin lotion in the bathroom of the family home in Los Angeles.

The case is under investigation by the highway patrol.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT

As if giraffe's didn't have enough troubles, son of Brookfield Zoo's Cindy has a girl's name—Claudia. This happened because the Chicago zoo curator promised receptionist Claudia Klish, 18, giraffe aborning would be named for her. So it was a boy, natch! So officially he's named Claudia, Sir—for official identification purposes. (AP Wirephoto)

Stinson Asks Aid For Floods

Members of the Stinson Beach Progressive Club Wednesday night decided to appeal to the county board of supervisors for emergency aid in clearing Easkott Creek to avoid flooded homes this winter.

The creek is overgrown with willows and partially filled with silt and gravel, secretary Harriet M. Greene said. The club has applied for inclusion in the Marin County Flood Control Zone, but has been told Stinson Beach will not be included in the county's program this year.

The club also agreed to join with the Bolinas Property Owners Assn. and other organizations to request Marin County Planning Commission provide zoning ordinances requiring land usage in accordance with goals of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach master plan. The plan was adopted by the board of supervisors in July.

'Truck Crash Won't Kill My Child'

SAN BRUNO (AP) — Seven-year-old Vikki Ardis was withdrawn from school here yesterday and taken to Long Beach, one day after a 38-ton brakeless truck went out of control down a busy street, injuring seven persons and smashing six cars.

"Let the trucks run over somebody else's children. I am going to keep mine," said the girl's father, Victor Ardis, 39.

"There could have been a school bus in the way when that dirt truck ran wild."

And Mrs. Ardis told the city council:

"I'd rather have a dumb child than a dead child. Vikki won't go to school in San Bruno anymore."

Ardis said his daughter would attend school in Long Beach near the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Louise Ardis.

In the meantime, he said, his family would look for another home. The couple has three other children, ranging in ages from one to five.

The runaway truck was one of many that have been passing through San Bruno regularly, hauling dirt to the San Francisco Airport.

RELIGIOUS SONGS GET APPROVAL

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Frederick M. Raubinger, state education commissioner has said that local school boards can allow children to sing Christmas carols and Hannukah songs or recite Old Testament psalms in classrooms.

He dismissed a complaint yesterday by John J. Gould of Freehold which objected to these practices in the Freehold Public Schools.

Gould's two young daughters attend the Freehold schools. In his complaint Gould said he does not believe in a personal god and finds it offensive to have anyone forced into religious worship against his wishes.

Raubinger said the songs are part of America's national heritage and culture.

Color Photography Classes Slated

An adult course in color photography will again be featured this year at Sir Francis Drake High School on Tuesday evenings, beginning Sept. 12, according to evening school principal Harry Russell.

The instructor, P. Douglas Anderson of San Anselmo, is a former University of California photography teacher.

Anderson will include day and night field trips in addition to classroom work. The course, held in Room 404 at Drake High, is from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Tuesday.

Last King Tut Tomb Discoverer Succumbs

STOCKTON (UPI) — Dr. John O. Kinnaman, 84, of Long Beach, widely known archaeologist and author, died in a Stockton hospital yesterday, apparently from old age.

Dr. Kinnaman was a member of a group of 20 men which accidentally discovered the tomb of the Egyptian pharoah Tutankhamen (King Tut) on Nov. 4, 1922. The tomb, about 160 miles up the Nile River from Cairo, was about 3,300 years old.

An air of mystery surrounded the discovery of the tomb and the lives of the 20 men who found it.

A gold plaque inside the tomb warned trespassers, "He who disturbs my rest shall surely die."

Dr. Howard Carter of London, the head of the archaeological expedition, entered the tomb first. He was also the first member of the party to die.

Dr. Kinnaman was last to enter the tomb, and he was the last man in the group to die.

Kinnaman had maintained his 19 colleagues all died mysteriously. He said he did not think they had been killed. But one theory held that poison dust in the tomb caused the death of the men.

Kinnaman had spent his recent years lecturing on Biblical archaeology. He had been visiting friends in Lodi when he became ill.

San Rafael Seaman Wins Commission

Angeleno J. Zanoni won his Navy commission to lieutenant (j.g.) upon graduation recently from the Naval Officer Candidate School at Newport, R.I. He is a son of Mrs. Catherine Zanoni of 219 Marin Street, San Rafael.

Zanoni had 18 years service before reporting to Newport as a chief petty officer.

BOWS AT DANCING PARTY

Margaret "Pinkie" Pomeroy bowed last night at a dancing party at Hazelmont, the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Pomeroy of Sausalito. Here Mrs. Pomeroy and Pinkie are shown in the authentic Japanese garden which was planted with pink and white petunias and chrysanthemums for the party. The dance floor was set in the garden and small tables were placed around its edge. The hosts and deb received guests in the living room of the English style home, against a backdrop of bells of Ireland and green spider chrysanthemums. Two Speakers Slated For League Tea

The League of Women Voters of Central Marin will hold its annual membership tea Sept. 19 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Arnold Wieser, 444 Woodland Rd., Kent Woodlands.

General chairman is Mrs. Margaret Best, membership chairman. Assisting will be Mesdames John Chambers, H. J. Compton, Marguerite Layton and Daniel Turrentine. Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. Lawrence O. Vireno and Mrs. Henry Drath.

Central Marin League has four past presidents on its board—Mesdames Ward Duffy, John Bissinger, Margaret Best and Osborne White. Mrs. Duffy who has served on the state board, is second vice president, in charge of administrative matters and annual finance drive; Mrs. Bissinger is chairman of workshop on foreign affairs; Mrs. Best, chairman of membership and units; Mrs. White, treasurer.

Mrs. William C. Anderson, program chairman, has arranged for O. W. Campbell and Roger F. Morse, to speak on the "State's Role in Local Government."

Mr. Campbell, now business and finance officer of Berkeley Campus of University of California, was manager of Metropolitan government of Dade County, Miami, Fla. He was also city manager of San Jose and of San Diego for several years.

Mr. Morse of San Anselmo, will present the topic as one experienced in local affairs. He formerly resided in Corte Madera where he was city councilman for four years. He has headed several Tamalpais Union High District financing drives and is now employed in the area of government relations with the Standard Oil Company of California.

Best Education For All

Not Just College Caliber, Marin Educators Tell Group

Importance of the best education for all children, not just those of college caliber, was emphasized at the luncheon meeting of Mill Valley's Awareness Group Wednesday, when the topic of the day was "Education in Marin."

Speakers at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Edmund Gross were Dr. Stephen E. Epler, president of the College of Marin; Chester Carlisle, superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District; and G. Robert McConnell, superintendent of the Mill Valley Elementary School District.

McConnell said that 90 per cent of Mill Valley parents expect their children to go on to college—probably because the town has such a high percentage of people who have attended or graduated from college—but that only about 33 percent of the children will actually complete a four-year college course. He recommended that the school program be broadened to offer more to these children.

Carlisle dealt with the definition of a comprehensive high school as one which offers a wide variety of subjects to fill the needs of all children and said that the three high schools in the Tamalpais High School District are of this kind.

As an example of diversities existing in the district he pointed out that among ninth grade students IQ ranges from 64 to 145, weight from 92 to 260 pounds, height from 4' 9" to 6' 3", and reading ability from that in second grade to above grade level.

Seventy per cent of Tam District students, he said, go on to further education in university, college or vocational school.

Objectives of the junior college, Epler explained, are education for the university trainee, the terminal student, vocations such as nursing and secretarial work and continuing education for adult members of the community.

Now having an enrollment of 1500 students, the college will go on to 4,000 in the near future, he predicted, and another campus will be required.

Not realized by many Marin residents, he pointed out is that the College of Marin encompasses only Tamalpais High School District and the San Rafael High School District—not all of Marin, as it eventually will.

Following the speeches counseling at the three levels was discussed. It was stressed that the importance of counseling is to recognize the capabilities of each child through testing, observation and consultation so that the school can do a better job of guiding him and his family.

In Mill Valley it was noted that there is only one counselor to 3,000 children.

The elementary level emphasis is on testing and recognizing ability, whereas at the high school level it is on vocational and personal counseling.

At the College of Marin Epler said a new system of counseling was tried this year, consisting of having a full-time, trained counselor enroll each student in a half-hour conference before the beginning of classes.

Some 40 women attended the meeting of the group, which was started over a year ago by Mrs. Gross without officers or dues. Attendance is by invitation to community leaders.

A model of an old fashioned "little red school house" was used as the centerpiece for the luncheon table.

The Carel Stahls Welcome A Son

Mr. and Mrs. Carel Stahl of San Rafael announce the birth of a son, Jan Hendrik, Sept. 6 at Marin General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stahl of Rotterdam, Holland are the paternal grandparents and Mrs. J. L. Wallace of Cleveland, Ohio, the maternal grandmother.

Dominican Alumnae's Fun Day Set

Members of the Marin Chapter of Dominican College Alumnae have planned a box lunch-fun day for their meeting Sept. 20, at the home of Mrs. Walter Baird, 1644 Avenue, San Rafael.

The casual get-together, set for 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., will feature such activities as swimming and bridge.

Mrs. William Gray, general chairman, announces that reservations are taken until Sept. 18 by Mrs. Patrick McGeen of San Rafael.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Bon Voyage Party Will Honor Rudy Langs Bound For Orient

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

A bon voyage for the Rudy Langs of San Rafael will be the dinner party the Melville Wolfs are hosting at their Ross Home Sept. 29. Guests will include the men in the card club to which Mel belongs and which has been in existence many years, and their wives. Couples will be Dr. and Mrs. Harry Hensler, Messrs. and Mesdames Lang, LeRoy Page, Henry Skinner, Floyd Gilman, Charles Trost and Richard Tissot. Also invited are the Robert Walkers.

The Langs fly Oct. 2 to Tokyo. After touring Japan they will go to Bangkok, Singapore, Tapei and sail home from Hang Kong aboard the President Wilson, arriving Dec. 4. Their daughter, Sue, a Dominican graduate, will enter Scripps College and her parents are driving her south Sept. 23.

HOME from the hospital after undergoing surgery, is Mrs. John (Marcella) Campion. She is making a good recovery and she and John hope, if the doctor approves, to take off for a brief vacation. This will be far different from the extensive European tour which she and John had planned and was canceled because of her illness.

DR. AND MRS. LAWRENCE GARRETT are entertaining at a dinner at their Fairhills home Sept. 16. Guests for the most part will be San Francisco friends.

AT KLAMATH FALLS Mrs. Walter Heller and Mrs. Charles Rosenbaum of San Rafael are entering their dogs in the field trials this weekend. Leta Rosenbaum is proud of her golden retriever, which placed third in the trials in Grizzly Island two weeks ago. Last weekend Eloise Heller was chairman for the field trials of the Sage Hens Retriever Club at Santa Rosa. Her Chesapeake retriever is doing himself proud in the meets which she and Leta have entered their dogs this summer in the Northwest.

NORTHERN EUROPE was thoroughly "explored" by Sidney Colton, San Rafael architect, and his wife who sailed from LeHavre on the Oronsay arriving home Tuesday. The Coltons go to Europe about once every two years. Before they reached Southampton, England aboard the Oriana they made a 21 days cruise of the Caribbean. They left here on July 2 and visited Norway, Sweden and Denmark and cruised through the fiords. Stockholm they found delightful with its many waterways, bridges and smart shops. A highlight of the trip was their visiting Germany. They traveled through West Berlin on Russian-operated trains, which they said, were inferior to those of other countries. The tenseness and unrest were apparent and it was a relief to move out of the sector. Because of the war scare, tourist travel was far below normal so accommodations were available in the best hotels.

The Oronsay made port in Lisbon, Trinidad, Jamaica and Bermuda.

KIDS

More Active The Harder They Fall

In the case of children, the more active they are, the harder they seem to fall.

One recent study found that falls accounted for 45.2 per cent of the at-play injuries.

Next to falls, striking or hitting accidents were most common.

Now, a Los Angeles manufacturer claims to have made falling softer and safer with a new mat made of butyl, the synthetic developed shortly before World War II and used during and since the war as a rubber substitute.

The mat has a flat surface supported with a waffle-like under surface, interlaced with ribs of two depts. The mat, the maker claims, will absorb the shock of a fall, and distribute the impact horizontally. It comes in inter-locking units, each two feet square.

The Los Angeles school board put the mat through seven years of field tests and has ordered it installed in all playgrounds of the school system.

Now, said a New York spokesman for the firm, 74 other cities have ordered installation of the mats in part or all of their playgrounds. Cities include Oakland, San Mateo, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Cleveland, Tacoma, San Francisco and Chicago.

Rose Is A Child Whose Mom Pushes Her Ahead Too Fast

I want you to meet "Rose." She's a flat-chested little girl of 12. But she has a haystack hairdo, wears adult clothes and uses a lot of make-up. She goes to teen-age dances, and smokes, with her mother's approval. Rose is mad about boys. Unfortunately boys aren't interested in her. Quite a girl, isn't she?

Rose is a misfit. She is an example of what happens when a mother tries to force her daughter to grow up too fast. Rose's mother was not allowed to have a date until she was 17. Her parents thought dancing was a sin. They didn't even approve of Sunday school parties. Through all her high school days she envied the kids who led normal school lives. She vowed no child of hers would be deprived.

Rose's mother has gone too far. She arranged Rose's first date when the child was only 11. She helped organize a social dancing group when her daughter was 9. She started taking Rose to the beauty parlor when she was 6. All along she has talked boys, boys, boys to her daughter. She invites older kids to her home. She means well but that's the most you can say for her.

I've known a few girls of 12 who were ready for grown-up activities. But Rose is not one of them. At parties she sits alone, a wallflower. At school she writes notes to boys and they tear them up. Rose should be enjoying the helter skelter tomboy life of a pre-teener. She should be climbing trees, playing ball and swimming with her gang. I think she'll hate her mother when she finally realizes what has happened.

Don't force your girls to grow up too soon. Remember Rose, and be careful.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My girl is 11, and a tomboy. She cares only for sports and vigorous activities. Will she ever be ladylike?"—K.B.

(A) Yes. Millions of girls are tomboys at 11. Let her enjoy it. Soon she'll mature and many new problems will emerge. Let her grow at her own speed.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

'Coffees' And Brunches Are Handy Informal Gatherings

The new club year is upon us and thoughts of entertaining at brunches and coffees are coming to mind. Often it is a convenient way for a unit chairman to meet with her small committee group, accomplishing business and keeping an informal party air.

A brunch, however, is a meal served in the middle of the day, sometimes taking the place of both breakfast and luncheon. A brunch is a popular event on a weekend for a club or church group, and the whole family can come.

A brunch can be served seated or at a buffet. Tables are set as for luncheon and coffee is served along with the meal. If it is to be buffet coffee may be offered first. Sometimes fruit juice is served guests as they arrive.

Scrambled eggs, bacon or sausages or a hot creamed dish would be suitable to serve. Cake or pastries may be on hand for persons who have breakfasted already and do not want the main dish.

Informal notes or telephone calls will invite the guests. The brunch differs from the "coffee" in that the latter is usually for women only and on a week day. Often it is a simple neighborhood affair to introduce a new resident.

At a coffee, fruit juices may be available and coffee is poured in the living room by the hostess or those whom she asks to help her. Cookies, sweet rolls and fruit cake or pound cake in small slices are appropriate, placed on plates around the room or on the coffee table, as convenient.

Here again, the invitations are informal notes or friendly telephone calls. Coffees are appropriate for 9 to 11 a.m. hours. Brunches usually are more likely to start at 11 a.m. or noon. Simple street wear is appropriate.

Marin 4-H Girls Participate In Fair Style Show

Six Marin County 4-H girls were invited to participate in a 4-H Fashion Show at the California State Fair on Wednesday.

Pam Saffores of the Novato Aggie 4-H Club, Marin County dress revue winner recently named in the blue award group at the State Dress Revue, headed the group. Other participants were Sheila Hodges, Novato Miwok Club; Joanne Lally and Patty Miller of the Ross Valley Club; Joan Marzell of the Novato Aggie Club and Diana McIsaac of the Novato Valley Club. These girls were all medalists in the Country Dress Revue.

Mrs. Virginia Porter, home advisor with the University of California Agricultural Extension Service in Marin, accompanied the group to Sacramento.

Executive Hostess Latest Addition To Passenger Comfort

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—The executive hostess is the airlines industry's latest addition to passenger comfort—and challenge to the competition.

The dozens of domestic and foreign airlines woo travelers with the latest of jet equipment, chefs to serve luxury meals aloft, wine stewards, souvenirs, and stewardesses dressed in native costume in the case of some foreign carriers.

Now, a South American line has added the executive hostess, who is sort of an airborne Perle Mesta.

"Our job is to make people feel at home," said Margarita Berga de Lema, one of the 11 executive hostesses which the airline is planning for its intercontinental flights. "We are to act as if we were receiving guests in our home."

The executive hostess, who does not wear a uniform as other crew members do, is the idea of Charlotte Franklin, the company public relations director.

"The first requirement I looked for was a good social background," said Mrs. Franklin, who combed the social registers of New York, Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo and Buenos Aires in hiring the 11 "execs."

Margarita, a dark-haired, dark-eyed charmer, is of Spanish ancestry. Her mother is the Countess Liza y Tinajeros. Her maternal and paternal grandparents were officials of the Spanish government during the early colonization of Puerto Rico, where Margarita was born 33 years ago.

She, her mother, and her brother who is a flight purser, live in New York. Her father is deceased.

Another hostess is Mafalda Braganca de Chanler, the great-great granddaughter of a king of Portugal and great-granddaughter of Brazil's first emperor, Dom Pedro II. Margarita and Mafalda both are based in New York; the others in Rio.

All the executive hostesses have taken the regular stewardess training and could serve meals or warm a baby's bottle.

"Which we would of course do if the stewardesses got too busy," said Margarita in an interview. She had just returned from one of the three round trips she makes each month to Rio.

"But rather, we try to see that passengers do not get bored . . . that those who might have common interests have a chance to meet each other."

When an exec reports for a flight, she goes immediately through the passenger seating list with a special eye for any VIP's aboard. By the time the plane is airborne, she knows most of the names of the passengers. That takes some memorizing, when a jet will carry as many as 104 passengers.

"We get a lot of ambassadors and bankers," said Miss Berga de Lema.

The execs must speak at least three languages—English, Spanish and Portuguese. They also are supposed to be familiar enough with New York, Rio and Buenos Aires to advise first visitors how best to get theater tickets (in New York), the better eating places no matter what the price, and dispense any other travel tips which make a visit to a city more pleasant.

Margarita could if she wished spend all her time leading the life of a gay socialite. "But I would get bored," she said.

"I am in love with travel," said Margarita, who has several times visited every continent except Africa and Australia.

SAN FRANCISCO SCENE

Fashion, Art To Combine For Thursday View Show

"The San Francisco Scene" in art and fashion is surveyed on Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at "Fashions With a View" from the Ondine in Sausalito when the couturier originals of Moreau are complimented by art works to be exhibited at the San Francisco Art Festival.

Promenading the new collection for town, theater, dinner and late day will be Mesdames John Jansheski, John Bellamy Jr. of Marin and Robert L. Wood Jr., Charles Volk and Mary Wilson of San Francisco.

The welcome mat will be rolled out for Martin Snipper, director of San Francisco's Art Festival. Joining Snipper at the guest table will be John Hagopian, of the San Francisco Art Commission, which sponsors the Art Festival, and Mrs. Hagopian, plus a group of artists and craftsmen from Marin and San Francisco.

Bonnie Lee To Be Bride Next Summer

Mrs. Edwin F. Burmester of San Anselmo has announced the engagement of her daughter, Bonnie Ann Lee, to J. Vincent Drucker of Montclair, N.J.

Bonnie is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and she attended the University of California. She is now a senior majoring in criminology at San Francisco State College. She is the daughter of Robert M. Lee of San Rafael and the sister of Sheridan P. Lee of San Anselmo. Her grandparents are Mrs. Alfred S. Lee of San Francisco, formerly of San Rafael, and the late Mr. Lee, and of Maxwell K. Anixter of San Francisco and the late Mrs. Anixter.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Drucker of Montclair. He is a third year student in the honors program at Connecticut Wesleyan University.

A summer wedding is planned.

Lunch Box Tricks Help Slim Fatties

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lunch at school needn't be a time of torture for weight-watching adolescents.

It can and should be a fun meal that nourishes as well as slims.

From a firm making low calorie salad dressings come these suggestions for de-calorizing and glamorizing the school lunch box:

Make each lunch box menu a full meal of several courses. A varied menu seems lavish and the appetite easily is fooled by the appearance of things. In addition to a sandwich, include such extras as hot soup—bouillon or tomato, a crisp salad of raw carrots, celery, radishes; green pepper strips and cherry tomatoes, fresh fruit or even some low calorie sweets for dessert.

Use different types of bread to keep the sandwiches interesting. Thin slices, of course. Remove the crusts. Plump crisp rolls are dieters' aids. Scoop out the doughy centers and use the shells for sandwiches.

Spread the bread with low calorie salad dressing, either mild French or garlicy Italian-style.

Make the filling bulky. Lettuce, tomato or cucumber slices, watercress, chicory, or pickle strips plump up a sliced meat, poultry or egg sandwich.

A bit of licorice, a couple of gumdrops or some hard candies can substitute for the butter creams, fudges or caramel desserts which would wreck the calorie budget.

Pouch Packaging Is New Food Style

Pouches containing soft drinks, cottage cheese, instant coffee and salad dressing are among the newest items on the horizon for consumers.

From Canada comes news of a polyethylene pouch for non-carbonated and carbonated soft drinks, with a built-in straw as an added feature.

Indnvidual packages of cottage cheese now being test marketed prove convenient for lunch boxes and picnic hampers, can be expected on a broad scale within months.

The pouch for coffee contains a free sample of instant coffee bound into copies of magazines, giving 11 million more families an opportunity to try the product.

The salad dressing, not yet a commercial reality, was one of the products of the future displayed at the national packaging exposition. The principle is that of a two compartment pouch, one for driy ingredients and one for liquids. The two are blended in the bag at the appropriate time by kneading the bag, thus breaking an interior seal.

This type of package offers product freshness never before possible, will open new horizons in packaging pancake and cake mixes, and permit the packaging of instant hot and instant cold items. This is done with three compartments, one for a powdered chemical which generates heat or cold when mixed with a liquid in the second compartment, accomplished by rupturing an interior membrane in the pouch, and the third for the food product in a non-rupturable compartment by itself. The package is folded in half to heat or chill the food.

The popular hero sandwich now comes in an air-tight foil carton, available in New York and California. The 7½ oz. sandwich includes ham, salami, bologna, cheese and dressing on a French roll. It can be served either hot or cold, as is or with lettuce, tomatoes, etc., added. Heros eaten cold need only to be thawed for 3 to 4 hours. They are recommended for picnics, school lunches, lunch on the job, for meals on skiing excursions, and at home for regular meals and snacks.

Three new dehydrated foods, complete spaghetti sauce mix, pizza sauce mix and barbecue sauce mix, are now available in California. These products can be used in dry powdered form for hamburgers, roasts, fish, noodles, casserole dishes and hors d'oeuvres and can be reconstituted to make sauce for spaghetti, pizza, etc. by adding water and cooking for five minutes. The 2½-oz. package makes eight servings.

Reunion Party Will Honor Janey Marsh

A reunion party honoring Janey Marsh will be given by Mme. Bella Resek tomorrow at her home in Mill Valley.

Janey has been spending a few weeks in Mill Valley before leaving on Sept. 17 for Salzburg, Austria, where she will continue her music study at the Mozarteum under the Oberlin Conservatory of music policy of having students spend their third year abroad.

All vocal students who knew Janey when she was studying with Mme. Resek, as well as all present students, are invited to the party, which will begin at 3 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and entertainment will be spontaneous music performances by the guests.

BEAUX ARTS BALL SET ON SEPT. 16

Marin County's first Charity Beaux Arts Ball will be held Sept. 16 from 9 to 2 a.m. at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant on the San Rafael Canal.

Sponsored by the California Cosmetology Assn., Unit 41 of Marin, the Ball will benefit Guide Dogs for the Blind.

Trophies will be awarded for the most outstanding costumes. The dance is open to the public. Serving as chairmen and also taking reservations are Mesdames Sally Mead of San Rafael and Glenda Smith of San Jose.

Guest of honor at the dance will be a graduate of the Guide Dog School who now owns a beauty salon in Bakersfield, Maurce Le Vesque. Accompanying Le Vesque will be his Guide Dog "Rosie."

Sewing Class Being Offered For Adults

Classes in sewing and tailoring will be offered by the Tamalpais Adult Evening School for the fall quarter at both the Tamalpais campus in Mill Valley and Sir Francis Drake High in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Evelyn H. Ball will teach the class at Tam on Wednesdays, 7:30-9:30 p.m. Mrs. Mary Ann Arnold will teach the class on Tuesdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Drake.

The course includes a comprehensive approach to sewing with personal color analysis for each member. Also to be discussed will be correct size in patterns, fitting, custom construction, and finishing.

Registration opens Monday and continues through Sept. 19. Students may register at either school for all classes offered by the evening school, principal Harry G. Russell said. The course ends Dec. 1.

Trimnastics Topic For Chi Omegas

'Aid In Asia' To Be Topic Of Meeting

"Varieties of U.S. in Asia" is the subject that John A. Bannigan will discuss at Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Mill Valley League of Women voters.

His talk will follow a 10:30 a.m. discussion meeting and a noon luncheon at Sabella's restaurant. Prospective new members will be welcomed. Those interested in attending may call Mrs. Donald Robinson.

Recently returned from Pakistan, Bannigan has been associated since 1954 with the Asia Foundation, a private group which sponsors financial and other aid to Asia. This year he became acting director of the review and development of the foundation, with offices in San Francisco.

From 1955 to this year he lived in Pakistan and East Pakistan. He is now a resident of Mill Valley.

Today is Friday, Sept. 8, the 251st day of the year with 114 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1565, a Spanish expedition land on what is now St. Augustine, Fla., and founded the first permanent settlement of Europeans on the North American continent.

In 1855, the Crimean War ended.

In 1900, a tornado and tidal wave smashed Galveston, Tex., killing 6,000 persons and doing millions of dollars worth of damage.

A thought for today: Greek philosopher Aristotle said: "Reasoning leads us to choose what is useful, moral goodness leads us to choose the noble."

Don't Be In Hurry To Draw Trumps At First Opportunity

Don't be in a hurry to draw trumps at your first opportunity. Dummy's trumps, such as they are, may be needed for a while.

Opening lead — ♡ K

South ruffed the third round of hearts and drew trumps. He was annoyed that it took four rounds of trumps to draw them all, but he didn't give up hope.

South then led a club to dummy's king and led the ten of diamonds for a finesse. The finesse lost, and West cashed another heart, defeating the contract.

Only one good thing could be said for South: he didn't take all night to go down. If they ever award medals for going down quickly at four spades, we'll put in a good word for South. It's about all he'll ever win.

ONE TRUMP: After ruffing the third heart, South should lead a trump to dummy's jack and return the ten of diamonds immediately for a finesse. No need to draw any further trumps.

If West wins, dummy's trump stops him from cashing another heart. If West cunningly refuses the first diamond, South should draw the rest of the trumps and take his ten tricks without trying a further diamond finesse.

South doesn't plan to ruff anything in dummy of his own free will, but he must keep one trump in dummy as a barrier to the hearts. It is needed only until he has managed to develop a third diamond trick.

DAILY QUESTION: Partner opens with two spades (forcing to game), and the next player passes. You hold:

♥ K Q J 2
♦ Q 8 5 2
♣ 4

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three spades. You have more than enough strength for a positive response. Show the trump support and see what sort of move partner can make towards a slam.

College Adds To Adult Courses

A contemporary painting and sculpture course and a course in savings and loan principals will be added to the College of Marin's adult school which opens Monday.

The painting and sculpture course will include, along with class sessions, trips to museums and art galleries throughout the Bay Area. Instructor will be Mrs. Nancy Clark Hayes of San Francisco.

The savings and loan course will include the history, characteristics, organization and service of savings and loan associations. Instructor will be Jack Goodwin, manager of Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of San Francisco.

Blessed Sacrament Club Will Hold Golf Contest

The second annual hole-in-one golf contest of the Marin Blessed Sacrament Men's Club will be held at the Las Gallinas Driving range beginning at 7 p.m. today and concluding at 10 p.m. Sunday.

There will be prizes for runners up as well as a winner, announced Frank Phillipps, co-chairman. Proceds from the affair will go in the club's building fund.

Small Craft Class Set At College

Piloting and small craft handling classes will start next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Art Building at College of Marin.

Sponsored by the Marin Power Squadron, the classes will run 14 weeks, covering the rules of the road, safety afloat and ashore, navigation of inboard and outboard boats, and basic principles of safe boating.

The classes are free and open to both men and women. It is not necessary to own a boat to enroll, according to Edwin Cadogan, commander.

Marin Power Squadron members will also begin advanced boating classes. Seamanship classes open on Monday, junior navigation classes open Tuesday, and advanced piloting classes on Wednesday. All begin at 7:30 and will be held in the College of Marin Art Building.

'Space Helmets' May Help Surgeons, Aides

NEW YORK (UPI)—The one and only way of excluding harm-threatening microorganisms from surgery is ti enclose the heads of surgeons and their operating table assistants in the type of helmets designed for space travelers.

This is the final conclusion of Dr. David V. Pecora who for some years has been seeking out the reasons why surachieve a consistently complete exclusion of microorganisms from surgical wounds although such an absolute exclusion is the surgical ideal.

His experiments have shown that the air of operating rooms can be kept free of microorganisms by efficient air-conditioning. Linens and the clothing of the surgical team can be reliably and effectively sterilized.

The hands of the surgeons and surgical nurses also can be entirely freed of microorganisms although it requires 10 minutes or more of intense scrubbing with antiseptics, with particular attention to the nails. This is a precaution against leakages in sterilized gloves.

But even when all these precautoins are carried out to perfection, surgical wound contamination by microorganisms will still occur. The complete exclusion of microorganisms is called "asepsis," and "it has long been apparent that complete asepsis in the operating room has not been achieved," Pecora said.

His suspicions got aimed at the noses and throats of surgeons and surgical nurses, since all noses and throats harbor microorganisms which get distributed into the atmosphere in the mere business of breathing. His experiments with the two types of surgical masks—the gauze mask and the filter mask—showed that neither gave absolute protection to surgical wounds.

Then he designed a "space helmet" for the surgeon. It is a cylinder made of transparent plastic. In one end is a rubber diaphragm with a hole which contains the neck of the wearer. His head then is entirely encased inside the cylinder.

In the cylinder's top end is a flutter valve which admits air from the atmosphere. In the bottom is an outlet valve which is attached to a long tube to a suction pipe in the wall. Thus, the wearer breathes air which is continuously sucked through the cylinder but no breath of his ever enters the operationg room atmosphere.

Pecora's comparative experiments with this "space helmet" and with gauze and filter masks showed that it was many times more efficient although it didn't entirely exclude microorganisms from the operating table.

He attributed that to unavoidable crudities in his experimental design and manufacture of the space helmet. He hopes that surgeons and engineers will take up the idea and perfect it because "the greatest source of operating room air contamination is the upper respiratory tracts of the occupants." That means the tracts of surgeons and nurses because patients can be prevented from contaminating their own wounds.

Pecora works at the Ray Brook (N.Y.) State Tuberculosis Hospital. He reported his experiments to a technical organ of the American Medical Assn.

Petaluma Group Plans Set For Art Festival

Members of the Petaluma Art Assn. will exhibit art works in various mediums at the third annual outdoor show Sept. 16-17 in Walnut Park. Displays will be set up by 10 a.m.

A Dixieland band will provide entertainment. A refreshment stand will be manned by the association.

Horsemen's Assn. Meeting Sept. 26

More than 100 members of the California State Horsemen's Assn. from five counties are expected to attend a dinner meeting Sept. 26 at the Non-commissioned Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The Novato Thunderbirds will host at the dinner, which starts at 8 p.m. with cocktails at 7:30.

Officers for Region 1 of the association will be elected at the meeting. There are 23 clubs in Solano, Napa, Sonoma, Lake and Marin counties, which comprise the district.

Sausalito Youngsters Win Reading Awards

Three Sausalito youngsters were to be awarded diplomas and books at 3 p.m. today at the Sausalito library as winners in the north bay summer reading club program. They are Kim Schwarcz, Paul Kozak and Sydney Erskine.

Selections were made by Mrs. Josephine Ripley, librarian, and Mrs. Margaret Georgetti, children's librarian, on basis of number of books read and the quality and diversity of interest shown by the youngsters, Mrs. Ripley said.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT:

1. All sums assessed in said assessment are due and payable immediately and become due and payable on the 31st day of August, 1961.

2. Payment of said sums is to be made to Wm. C. Osborne, City Treasurer, City Hall, Larkspur, California, within thirty (30) days of the recording of said assessment, which said date was August 31, 1961.

3. Serial bonds representing the unpaid balance of each assessment, and to bear interest at the rate of six percent (6%) per annum, will be issued hereunder in the manner provided by the Improvement Act of 1911, and the last installment of which bonds shall mature fourteen (14) years from the 2nd day of January next succeeding the next September 1st following their date.

DATED this 31st day of August, 1961.
/s/ WM. C. OSBORNE, Treasurer of the City of Larkspur, County of Marin, State of California.

Recreation Unit Schedules Two Events For Month

Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission has scheduled two events for the month.

On Wednesday of next week, the commissioners will make an all-day trip to various county parks to check facilities and conditions. Marin County Board of Supervisors will be invited to make the tour with the commission members.

On Sept. 18, the commission will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. in the county building at 1711 Grand Avenue. Vice-Chairman James M. Fletcher said the commissioners will discuss general administrative procedures and policies.

The commissioners also expressed interest in a report that the Marin Municipal Water District might be considering disposing of some land outside the watershed area as "surplus land."

U.C. Extension Art Course Set

University of California Extension evening courses in "Schools of Modern Art" and "The Psychology of the Interview" will start Sept. 25 at the College of Marin in Kentfield.

"Schools of Modern Art," to be held in library, room 2 at 7 p.m., offers illustrated lectures on neo-classicism, romanticism, realism, impressionism, neo-impressionism, fauvism, expressionism, cubism, futurism, surrealism, and other 19th and 20th Century art movements. The course will be taught by Earl D. Pierce.

Dr. Rudolf H. Moos, United States Public Health Service fellow in psychology, will teach the class in "Psychology of the Interview" in Harlan Hall, room 23, at 7:30 p.m. The course covers basic psychology of communication in the interview situation with emphasis upon interview analysis.

Enrollments will be accepted at the first meeting of each class.

Judge Announced Retirement Date

SACRAMENTO (AP) — B. F. Van Dyke, presiding justice of the Third District Court of Appeal, announced yesterday he will retire Oct. 16. He is 74.

Van Dyke was appointed to the Sacramento County Superior Court in 1947 by then Gov. Earl Warren and elevated to the appellate bench in 1950 by Warren.

Marinite Gets A.F. Finance Job

Christopher S. Morrow, 123 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, has been appointed accounting and financial supervisor of the 865st Air Force Reserve Recovery Group.

Morrow, who works at the San Rafael Bank of America, is a 19-year veteran of Air Force duty.

Air Reserve Recovery units "recover" damaged planes returning from missions. Recovery units are established at alternate landing fields to assist planes unable to reach home bases.

Flamenco Program Set At Art, Garden Club

Chenin de Triana and Loreta Garcia, "alumni" of Jose Greco's flamenco troupe, will be presented in a program of flamenco music and dance Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

"I wanted to bring authentic flamenco to Marin," said Mrs. Jayne Clakins, Mill Valley concert producer who arranged the appearance, "both because talented performers now look to Marin for the best audiences and because the Marin Art and Garden Center is an ideal spot for this art.

"People who are interested in flamenco and want to know more about it should see the only authentic troupe residing in the Bay Area in a setting that is especially suitable — outdoors, under the stars and trees, as it originated many years ago.

"The program will include traditional 'Cante Jondo' (sad) and 'Canto Chico' (happy) flamenco songs, dances, and guitar music by de Triana, the young Spanish artist who was featured 'Cantador' for three seasons with the Jose Greco company."

Orphaned during the Spanish Civil War, de Triana grew up learning the ancient Gypsy melodies in Triana. He takes his stage name from this section following the Spanish custom. Chinin means "The Little One."

De Triana does not do popularized flamenco. In fact he once lost a good job with Arthur Godfrey for refusing to sing "Lady of Spain," Mrs. Clakins said.

Appearing with the young Spaniard will be Loreta Garcia. She will be featured in Zapateado, a virtuoso exercise in footwork rhythm and technique and in Cuaslro Flamenco, ending with Bulerias, a "Jam Session" of improvised song, dance and guitar work in spontaneous abandoned Gypsy style with sly humor.

Tickets are on sale at Hoy's TV and Music stores in San Rafael and San Anselmo.

Electricity In Georgia

NEW YORK (UPI) — Georgia has 2,000 electrically-heated commercial buildings, more than any other state, and the number is growing at the rate of .55 buildings per month, Electrical World Magazine reports.

Adult Courses In Fundamentals

Fundamentals of high school subjects, offering work leading to a high school diploma, will be offered by the Tamalpais Adult Evening School at both Drake High in San Anselmo and Tam High in Mill Valley.

The Tamalpais course, taught by Gerald M. Lucey, is scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in room 18. The Drake class, with Robert Sherman as instructor, is set for Tuesdays and Thursday, 7:30 to 9:30, in room 113.

The fundamentals course, Principal Harry G. Russell said, includes work in English, mathematics, science, U.S. history, and civics.

Registration for evening school is from Monday through Sept. 19. Students may register at either the Drake or the Tam office.

JACK D. WILLIAMS
New guidance consultant

Jack D. Williams, University of California psychology teacher and researcher, has been named fulltime guidance consultant for the Kentfield School District. He succeeds William Berzman, now personnel director for the Oxnard School District.

Williams was hired at a salary of $10,000 per year from among 20 applicants, said Supt. Howard C. Harmon.

The new consultant graduated from University of California, Berkeley, in 1954 and has completed most of the work for the doctorate in psychology. Since graduation, he has been employed by the university as a research psychologist in the Institute of Industrial Relations and as a teacher in the extension division. He taught testing techniques at Mount Diablo Junior College, also English and psychology at the San Quentin night school, and was clinical psychologist at the East Bay Consultation Center. Before taking the Kentfield job, he was supervisor of research at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville.

Guide Dog Graduation Set Sept. 16

Five men and one woman will graduate with their new "eyes" from Guide Dogs for the Blind on Sept. 16, after completing a four-week training program at the school in San Rafael.

The graduates are Alduff Doody of Waterford, Stanislaus County, with Hope, a golden retriever; James Kendrick of Kentwood, La., with Quip, also a golden retriever; Lee MacKenzie of Hoquiam, Wash., with golden retriever Halsey; Albert Naeole of Honolulu, with Labrador retriever Nord; Joseph Strawn of San Diego with German shepherd Kathleen, and Mrs. Ethel Vose of Edmonds, Wash., with golden retriever Wila.

The public graduation will be held on the grounds of the school on Los Ranchitos Road at 2:30 p.m. After the ceremony, a Guide Dog demonstration will be given, followed by a tour of the campus and a reception of graduates and guests.

PROFILE OF THE WEEK—Seven years ago Charles Bellach watched with pride as his dream came true with the dedication of the new Bellach's Furniture store building on Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael. Three years later he stood on that same spot and watched while flames destroyed that dream. At the time the heartsick Bellach was certain that he was through with the home furnishings business forever. The story of why he changed his mind and returned to the business stronger than ever will be told in tomorrow's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine by magazine editor Don Keown. It is part of a special edition devoted to the new fall home furniture and furnishings.

'I SHALL RETURN'

Holland Holiday Ends For Kentfield Girl

By FRED WYATT

Eighteen-year-old Joan Levensaler of Kentfield grew to like Holland so much on her two-month visit this summer that she wants to return as soon as she can.

With luck, she said, that will be in the summer of 1963.

Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Levensaler, 126 Cypress Avenue, was one of more than 1,200 young Americans who spent part of the summer living and traveling in 28 countries under auspices of the Experiment in International Living.

She left her home June 28, arrived in Rotterdam July 7 and returned to Kentfield last week.

In Holland she stayed with a Mrs. Van Hoolwerff and her 19-year-old daughter in Haarlem. Another daughter was visiting the United States.

"They told me to come back any time," she reported. "They said, 'Don't bother to write—just drop in.'"

"Everyone in Holland was so friendly," she said. "They didn't speak much English but they were very helpful, particularly when I went shopping." Another feature of Holland she enjoyed was the flatness—"it made it so easy to get around on bicycles."

She was delighted with the cheese markets and other features of The Hague, she reported.

From Holland she and other students visiting under the Experiment plan visited Denmark for 10 days, she said. This included three days in Copenhagen, where she enjoyed the Tivoli Gardens, an amusement park with many trees and much other greenery.

The group also stayed in hostels in two smaller Danish cities, Halt and Aarhus. The hostel at Halt was "very exclusive," she reported, with "miles of trees."

In southern Holland she and other students in the group, from Southern California, Iowa and New York, stayed in Sluis, where the poorer families, mostly farmers, lived.

The group also spent five days in Paris.

"Everybody loved Paris," she said. "And I guess I did, too. But I guess I'm more of a country girl and so I loved Holland more."

She hopes to save enough from a job next summer to pay her way on a new visit to Holland in the summer of 1963.

Meanwhile she's busy packing to go to Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill. She plans to go by jet plane Tuesday in time for rush week, which begins the next day. She will major in education. She wants to be a teacher of second or third grade.

JUST LIKE HOLLAND—Joan Levensaler places wooden shoes she brought from The Netherlands for her sisters on front steps of Kent Woodlands home. Joan spent summer with a Dutch family under the Experiment in International Living students exchange plan. That odd pair of shoes with no toes? Oh, those are Joan's American ones. Firemen In Tiburon Complete Dance Plans

Tiburon Volunteer Firemen have completed plans for their annual dance, Oct. 14 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Corinthian Yacht Club.

Theme of the dance will be "20 years of service," commemorating the 20th anniversary of the Tiburon Volunteers, president Allen A. Olson said. Randolph J. Esplin is general chairman.

Labor Council Questions Fairfax Building Inspector

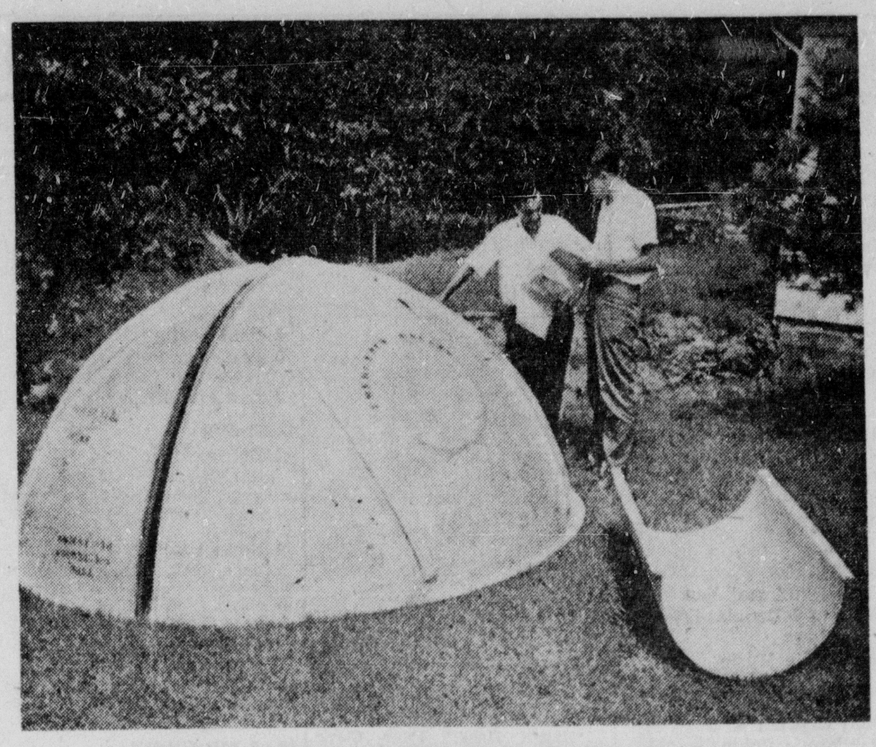
The Marin County Labor Council Wednesday night questioned the competence of Alice Leonesio, Fairfax city clerk, to act as the city's building inspector, and urged the council to reconsider its appointment of her.

Mrs. Leonesio was appointed by the council on Tuesday to replace Councilman Rolfe M. Ockenden, who had served unofficially as inspector for the past two months. He said he would continue to serve as adviser to Mrs. Leonesio until a permanent inspector is named.

The labor council also agreed to question the Board of Supervisors whether earth moving equipment recently purchased by the county was being sufficiently used to justify its purchase. The council raised the question as to whether earth moving work could be more economically put out to bid.

Christopher To Speak

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco will be speaker at the quarterly membership luncheon of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant.



PLANS FOR NUCLEAR SURVIVAL

Engineers for a bomb shelter manufacturer, Vincent Carubia (left) and Edward Klein, study specifications for a fibreglass dome shelter being installed on an estate in Locust Valley, N.Y. The dome is designed to cover an excavation, being dug in background, which is to be floored, walled and outfitted for emergency living. (AP Wirephoto)

Mailbox Theft

A mailbox and post disappeared from a Mill Valley home, the owner reported to the sheriff Wednesday. Mrs. Anne Keleman of 14 Montecimas Avenue told investigators the theft probably occurred Monday night.

Sausalito Art Benefit Set For Yachtsman Minniear

Sausalito and other Marin artists will give a benefit for the family of David K. Minniear Sunday at the Trident at 558 Bridgeway.

Minniear, a yachtsman and former resident of Sausalito for several years, lost his life last Friday when he was swept overboard from a ketch off Half Moon Bay.

The benefit was initiated by Sausalito painter and singer Val Bleecker, who taught art to Minniear's son, Steven, now 5.

Others in the family are Mrs. Louise Minniear and another son, Timothy, 18 months. The Minniears moved to San Francisco this summer where Minniear worked as a purchasing agent for a San Francisco contracting firm.

Works are being contributed by many artists and there will be short variety acts presented, starting at 6 p.m.

Artists contributing their works include Jerry Edlund, Mike Malone, Miss Bleecker, Jean Varda, Don Steffen, Serge Trubach and Jeffrey Van Cleve of Sausalito; Robert Dittner, Sheldon Kagenoff and John Broadhurst of San Rafael, and Axel Nordell of Mill Valley. Paintings are also being given by the Sausalito Cooperative Nursery School.

Creative Arts in Sausalito is acting as a clearing house for the works. Peter Sterner is to be the auctioneer, assisted by Neil Whitman.

Entertainers include Elaine Mitchell and Don Deane's Pumpernickle Puppets; Miss Bleecker, who will sing; John Minton, a recitation, and a song and dance act, "Muddy Waters," with performers Ruth Smith, Raina Stangby, Robert Hall, Lou Mason and Dick Reutlinger.

Belvedere Planners Approve Shop Request

The Belvedere Planning Commission, in a special meeting Wednesday night, gave architectural approval to the addition of 15 tables to the Herbert Sherbet Shoppe in the Boardwalk Center, chairman George Goddard said.

The commission also recommended to the city council that it approve the use of existing parking facilities for the enlarged restaurant.
